LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. S. J. Weekes, who has been in Omaha the past five weeks visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. C. T. Dickinson, is expected home Friday.

John Minton came up from Omaha the later part of last week and is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Alice Minton. Mr. Minton has been conductor on the Burlington out of Omaha for the past seventeen years.

Paul Young, who has been working in the central part of the state for several weeks, came home on Tuesday of last week.

The Frontier went to press Wednesday evening in order that the force may have Thanksgiving to themselves.

Miss Fern and Burt Hubbard and Miss Carol Simonson came from Lincoln, Wednesday evening to spend Thanksgiving with home folks.

Mrs. Georgia Rasley went to Omaha last Thursday to transact some business; she then went to Iowa City, Iowa to visit her son, Warren Hall and wife and little grandson, Richard.

The city of Atkinson has signed a new contract with the Interstate Power Company for street lighting. The old rate was 10c per kw; the new rate for pumping the city water is four cents for the first 1000 kw, three and one-half cents for the next 1000 kw and three cents for all over 2000.

The weather turned cold and stormy last Sunday morning. Saturday was a nice, warm day for this season of the year. Sunday afternoon a heavy northwest wind was filled with snow at times that resembled a regular blizzard, but Monday was clear but cold. Again Tuesday snow flurries were prevalent.

TELEPHONE AND HIGH LINE CREWS REPAIRING LINES

Several crews of telephone men arrived in O'Neill last Thursday morning and began repairing the O'Neill system which was badly demolished by the sleet storm of last Wednesday night. The telephone lines have all been repaired in the city excepting those which pass through the cable on south fifth street; the high line fell on the cable in one place and burned it in two. Long distance service was resumed the latter part of the week but the line is only a temporary one and will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

The Interstate Power Co. suffered considerable damage over almost all of their system. Manager Walling tells us that he has seven crews working with ten to twenty men to the crew, trying to get the lines in shape so that the towns may be lighted. He says that several towns in southern South Dakota are still without light as is also Bassett, Newport and some of the towns west where service was cut off from both sides of them.

O'Neill people should congratulate themselves upon the fact that they received tip-top service both from the light company and the telephone company following the worst sleet storm that has ever visited this section of the state; every effort was put forth by both companies to clear up the trouble as quickly as possible.

FROELICH LEADS WAR IN CHICAGO UPON GANGSTERS

(Omaha World-Herald)
William J. Froelich, former Omaha, is commander-in-chief of the government forces in their war against Chicago's gangland, it was revealed Friday in a copyrighted Consolidated Press dispatch to The World-Herald.

Froelich, a native Nebraskan, served for two years as assistant United States district attorney in Omaha under J. C. Kinsler. He left in 1929 to become an assistant to the attorney general and is the youngest member of the attorney general's staff.

WILLIAM J. FROELICH

The Chicago campaign which Froelich is directing is described by Attorney Mitchell as "a concerted drive against crime in Chicago."

All government resources will be placed at Froelich's disposal, it is stated. Prohibition agents, secret service, internal revenue agents, the intelligence unit, immigration officers, the department of justice, bureau of investigation, postal inspectors, the narcotic bureau and the customs inspectors will all be massed in the government's army.

Federal officers in Chicago refused to comment on Froelich's appointment. "If words could drive the official and criminal gangsters out of Chicago they would have been gone long ago," said District Attorney Johnson.

Froelich himself refused to comment. "Assistant Attorney General Froelich is here to make action take the place of verbal fighting that has been so common," says the press dispatch from Chicago.

Other agencies will co-operate with Froelich in the "war of extermination." Among them will be Pat Roche and his investigators of the state's attorney's office, and the "secret six," civilian organization formed to combat official corruption.

Important results have already been achieved, it is pointed out, although the campaign is barely under way. Ralph Capone, brother of Scarface Al, is under sentence of three years in federal prison after conviction on charges of conspiring to violate the income tax laws. Jake Guzik, general manager of Al Capone's gambling organization, was convicted this week on a similar charge and is awaiting sentence. Frank Nitti, treasurer of the Capone organization is awaiting trial on similar charges. Federal officials have indicated that Scarface Al himself may be the next arrested.

The income tax laws will be the chief weapon of the federal officers. Although the gang leaders speak openly of their liquor business, it has been difficult to get convictions and long prison sentences on liquor charges. The federal officers, it is said, believe that they can break the gang by sending the leaders to prison on tax charges and that, once the leaders are disposed of, the liquor business can be attacked with greater success.

Froelich's rise in the government service has been rapid. He was graduated from the law school of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., in the class of 1926, and shortly afterward passed the Nebraska bar examination. On July 13 of that year he was appointed an assistant to District Attorney Kinsler here.

His work in the Omaha office attracted the attention of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, then assistant attorney general here in charge of liquor prosecutions, and in April, 1929, he was appointed assistant to the attorney general. Since that time he has been assigned to liquor law prosecutions in various parts of the country. He came to Omaha last spring to assist the local office in handling a part of the docket.

Froelich was born in Stromsburg, Neb., but when he was 10 months old his family moved to a farm near O'Neill. At the age of ten, when his father died, Froelich went to work in O'Neill to help support the family.

THE O'NEILL LIONS CLUB ENTERTAIN FOOTBALL BOYS

The O'Neill Lions Club had as their guests at their regular noonday luncheon last Tuesday the members of the High School football team. The boys have not registered very many wins this season owing to the fact that they are young and inexperienced; many of the boys are small in stature; Coach Carroll has worked hard with the squad this year and they are in a position to go out next season and make a creditable showing. The boys have established a reputation throughout this section of the state as having played clean football and have been commended by many of the towns for the manner in which they have conducted themselves both on the field and on the streets.

Secretary of the Lions, L. E. Downey, in a few well chosen words, extended a welcome to the boys and expressed the sentiment of the entire membership of the club when he said that the Club was 100% behind the squad and their coach in their endeavor to promote clean athletics. Thomas Abouch, captain of the team, very ably responded, expressing the appreciation of the team for the interest taken in them by the Lions.

Mayor C. E. Stout was present and also made a short talk to the team. Each Lion as well as each member of the squad made a few remarks relative to the team. The luncheon was one of the best that the club has enjoyed and no doubt was conducive to a closer friendship between the boys and the business men present.

The following is a list of the football boys present at the luncheon: Orville Winchell

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement. For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty, new luxury, new completeness and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the smart new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper and unusually efficient. Due to the increased wheelbase, the lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional fleetness and grace. And the new Fisher bodies combine with this more attractive exterior appearance, a new degree of interior luxury.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier and deeper. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism; an easier shifting transmission.

And along with these improvements, Chevrolet offers a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—four long semi-elliptic springs—four hydraulic shock absorbers—a safety gasoline tank—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.
