The drivers license law was placed upon the statute books for the purpose of safeguarding the public. Traffic laws are being violated and the lives of travelers upon the highways are being jeopardized daily by the reckless, lawless drivers. If those who drive cars cannot obey the laws, steps should be taken to revoke their driving license. The speed demon will tell you that he does not drive fast and will keep up his terrific pace until its too late. It is better to enforce the law now than to wait until an accident happens or one or more lives are snuffed out. The Pierce Leader says stop the trucks speeding through the streets at express train speed. Stop the blind and one-eyed lamp cars and others that have no rear lights; stop the drivers who drive with the cut-out open on their trucks and cars. Why are people snapping their fingers at the law and considering them so lightly? Why? Because they seldom if ever, hear of them being enforced.

The well known Grand Island Business College of Grand Island, Nebraska, has just announced that arrangements have been made so that 100 more young men and women can be admitted to the College this winter. A record breaking enrollment is now in attendance and any one interested in qualifying for Civil Service, Banking or other business positions should write immediately for free catalog. One remarkable feature of the School is the plan it established nearly fifty years ago of giving deserving young people, who wish it, time on tuition and allowing them to pay after they graduate and have been placed in positions.
