The Shelterbelt planting above is in eastern Nebraska. Planting contains caragana, Austrian and Scotch pine, Honey locust, and Chinese elm. This planting is made for a shelter for livestock than for height. The seedlings were planted in April, 1928. The wonderful growth which the trees made is shown by picture which was taken at the close of the third growing season in September, 1930. This picture illustrates very well the method of planting different varieties of trees in the shelterbelt.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES
James W. Rooney, Holt County Agent

Bee Keeper's Meetings
The Bee keepers of Holt County will have the opportunity of hearing O. S. Bare, Extension Entomologist, talk on the beekeepers problems. Mr. Bare will be in Holt county on Thursday, March 26th. Two meetings will be held, one at Stuart and one at Page. The time and place of the meetings will be announced in this column. Watch for it.

Farm Accounts
Mr. Farmer, do you think it would pay you to keep farm accounts? Many Nebraska farmers find that the time spent in keeping farm records is very valuable. Record work should start January 1st or March 1st. Record books are available at this office. If you are interested, make a list of your livestock and grain and see or write the agent and he will be glad to give you assistance in starting your record.

4-H Clubs Organized
The Grand Prairie Baby Beef Club was organized on Monday of last week. This club is located about six miles northeast of Emmet. Five boys signed the application blank and elected John Tipton and Raymond Elder leader and assistant leader. "The Darling Darners" was the name chosen by thirteen girls of District 141 at their organization meeting held Tuesday evening. These girls live about five miles southeast of Emmet. Mrs. Ralph Fritton was chosen local leader. Faye Weekes, a former Garfield county 4-H member, will act as assistant.

The South Fork Baby Beef Club and the South Fork Breeding Heifer Club were reorganized at Chambers. The members chose Ernest Farrier as their local leader. Ten members joined the Baby Beef Club and nine joined the Heifer Club.

Five boys of the Middlebranch neighborhood elected Joe and Dallas Wadsworth as the local leaders of their Baby Beef Club. "Middlebranch" was the name chosen by the five charter members.

The Sand Creek Laff-A-Lot Clothing Club was organized Friday evening. This club is located about eight miles northeast of Stuart. The five girls present elected Miss Gladys Mouchin and Mrs. Ed Weber as their leaders.

Ten boys living six miles northeast of Page chose "The Lambert Feeders" as the name of their Baby Beef Club. Roger Bowen and Leonard Dorr will act as the local leaders of this club.

The members of the above clubs are getting an early start. If you are interested in organizing a club in your community, see the agent or write him about a date for an organization meeting. He will be glad to come out and explain the 4-H club work to the members of your community.

TO THE FARMERS OF THE MIDDLE WEST

In the early winter I started my Free Employment Bureau, my plan being to send you men who, for the winter months, would be willing to work for room and board.

On this basis I sent out over four hundred men and families.

Judging from reports received from men I have sent out, as well as some of the parties I have sent men to, my plan can be called a success.

I would like to continue this work indefinitely but it is getting close to spring and Henry C. Glissman and Chas. O'Brien, both practical farmers who have helped me all winter in the selection of these men for you, will have to terminate their work here March 15th, so I am making this last appeal to you.

Write me what help you need, stating the kind of work expected, also what you expect to pay as wages after spring work starts.

Up to that time these men will work for board and room, if assured of a job after that.

We can furnish single men, boys, married couples without children, to both work, also men with families, to live in separate houses, some having their own furniture. All men are closely investigated and are picked for your particular job by Messrs. Glissman and O'Brien. Write me at once if you need help. My room is full of men every day who really want work.

Yours truly,

DAN HANSON WINS HOUSE TRIBUTE BY LINCOLN READING

Mr. Hanson is a nephew of Mrs. J. B. Mellor of this city; he is a member of the Wyoming legislature. (Cheyenne, Wyo., Tribune-Leader)

Fitting observance was given by the House of the 21st Wyoming legislature Thursday of the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln.

The program in memory of the Civil War president was a one-man service, but was exceedingly sufficient.

Selected by the representatives to do honor to Lincoln because of his striking similarity in stature and manners to the great Emancipator, Dan Hanson, of Hat Creek, youthful House member, held the crowded chamber spellbound for 40 minutes.

With simple words, without elegant gesture, in a clear, low voice that carried the speaker's own sincerity to everyone within its range, Hanson gave a brief reading from Ida M. Tarbell's "Life of Lincoln."

When Hanson finally finished there was a brief, significant pause and then the House members applauded their most youthful contemporary with more respectful enthusiasm than had yet been displayed in the lower chamber this session.

At the close of the day's work, I. W. Dinsmore, speaker protem, in behalf of the members of the House presented Hanson with a book on Lincoln. Dinsmore said, in making the presentation, that the volume was a token of appreciation for the way in which the young representative had aided the House in recalling the noble memory of Lincoln.

When the House had finally adjourned for the day, several older House members went to Hanson and shook the hand of the 24-year-old representative, the legislature's young-solon.

They returned home Saturday evening.

The residence belonging to Paul Bitner, in the west part of town, burned to the ground early Thursday morning. Some of the furniture on the ground floor was saved but nothing could be saved from the upstairs. Paul, together with his brother George and family, were living in the house. There was some insurance.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Benj. Kuhler, Pastor

We were glad to see you again last Sunday at church. Let us all be there again next Sunday, morning and evening. The Sunday School also invites you. There is a place for all ages. Epworth League at 6:30.

Evening services in our church. Rev. H. D. Johnson will be the speaker. It is encouraging to see these evening union services so well attended. The last few Sundays have been exceptionally well attended.

Recently a banker put an ad in the paper like this: "How long would our town be on the map if all the churches would pack up and leave, not to return again? How long would you remain? Would your property bring half its present value? The church is an inseparable part of the prosperity of the community. The community prospers and is depressed."

ed as the churches prosper and are depressed." He said a lot more about how folks attend and support this, their greatest asset. Two forces are battling for supremacy today, Communism and Christianity. Which shall it be? And to which shall we contribute? Every recruit for the living church is a recruit against Communism which aims its direct blow at Christianity, God and the church.
