Children Invited to Attend Clinic to Be Held at Fremont April 23

Fremont, Neb. — (UP) — Crippled or physically handicapped children under 21 years of age in counties of this section have been invited to attend the free orthopedic clinic here Thursday, April 23. Children from Burt, Thurston, Cumming, Dodge, Saunders, Washington and surrounding counties are invited.

Clinic doctors of six counties made the announcement of the date of the free clinic, at the same time announcing that Dr. Robert D. Schrock, of Omaha, and Dr. James M. Thomson, of Lincoln, both orthopedic specialists, and Dr. George E. Neuhaus, of Omaha neuro specialist, had accepted invitations to attend the meetings and conduct examinations.

In addition to the orthopedic examination, every child will be given a general physical examination by the doctors of the clinic district. A medical examination report will be made to the parents by a group of persons selected to diagnose the results of the examinations. This also will be given without obligation.

The clinic is being sponsored by medical men and the Elks lodge of Fremont. It is a part of the lodge's statewide program. Approximately 200 children in this section are in need of examinations, it is estimated.

Four clinics similar to the one scheduled for here, have been held throughout the state during the last year. Two were held at Beatrice, one at York and one at Grand Island. It is estimated that 250 children in a 14-county area have been examined.

SCRIBNER SECURES

NEW WATER SUPPLY
Scribner, Neb. — (UP) — Problems of Scribner relating to supply of water appear to have been solved with the drilling of an artesian well. The well was drilled to a depth of 414 feet and throws a stream of cold water more than five feet in the air. The water is said to be of good quality. For several months attempts have been under way to secure a new water source. The old wells were unsatisfactory because of the high iron content.

The last 62 feet of the artesian well was drilled through sandrock. It is believed the well will provide adequate water for the city's needs when enlarged and attached to city pumps.

WILL TRY TO IDENTIFY

BONDS STOLEN AT LINCOLN
Lincoln, Neb. — (UP) — Two employees of the former Lincoln National Bank and Trust company have gone to New York City to identify bonds found in the possession of Franklin P. Ferguson, New York City attorney. Miss Florence Zeiser, former trust officer of the bank, and Miss Marie Scott, former clerk, have gone to New York, accompanied by two New York detectives.

Miss Zeiser was in charge of the bonds and at the point of a gun was forced to open the vault, containing more than $1,000,000 in bonds and securities. She will testify as to the identity of the bonds and will tell of their being taken from the bank. Ferguson is alleged to have said when first arrested that he obtained the Lincoln bonds from a Boston man. Later he changed his story, saying they were given him by Donald J. Delancy, whom he described as a former agent of the department of justice.

AGED SWINDLER GOES

BACK TO PRISON
Fremont, Neb. — Joseph W. Bishop, 79 years old, who attracted wide publicity by returning voluntarily to the Ohio state penitentiary from Arkansas to spend the remainder of his days, because "hard times" had made it difficult for him to exist, has been identified as Henry G. Fisher, alias John Barnhardt. Fisher, who swindled John O'Connor, former register of deeds, out of $3,000 by filing a false deed at the courthouse and then borrowing on it, Attorney J. F. Daly, who defended Fisher, says he is positive that Bishop is Fisher. He corresponded with Bishop regularly since the former Nebraskan was in the Ohio penitentiary.

Her father had loaded it some time before and tried unsuccessfully to shoot it.

VET'S CASH IN DEFUNCT BANK

Its Status to Be Determined by Nebraska Supreme Court

Lincoln, Neb. — (Special) — Attorneys for the state banking department have filed a brief with the supreme court asking that it reverse the action of the Knox county district court in giving Maggie A. Agler a prior claim above all other depositors in the Security State bank of Creighton, now in a receiver's hands.

Mrs. Agler is the administratrix of Robert R. Gordon, a World war veteran, who began, while alive, to draw disability payments from the federal government on his war risk insurance. He had accumulated $1,802 when he died.

The trial court held that the money was that of the federal government to a certain extent, sufficient at least to give application to the federal statute that makes government deposits in banks superior liens.

The bank receiver says that the government lost jurisdiction as well as control of the funds as soon as Gordon deposited them and that as his administratrix she is not an agent of the government the deposit should be given the same status as that of a private individual. The point of law has never been passed on by the supreme court, the lawyers say.

NEBRASKA HAS MORE

CATTLE ON FEED
Lincoln, Neb. — (UP) — Nebraska is the only state in the Union showing an appreciable increase in cattle on feed over last season, it was announced by the state and federal division of agricultural statistics. The average in Nebraska is 15 per cent more than last year, while the cornbelt as a whole showed only a 7 per cent increase.

Because of a large reserve of feed being held over from last year's crops, Nebraska feeders were in a position to increase their feeding operations, rather than lower them as was the case of every other state with the exception of Minnesota. Extreme drought over most of the cornbelt forced this condition on cattle feeders in the entire territory, officials of the agricultural statistics stated.

Due to this situation, Nebraska feeders will be able to market a much larger number of cattle than last year with less competition at terminal markets.

HOPE TO SAVE YOUTHS

FROM ELECTRIC CHAIR
Omaha, Neb. — (UP) — With Bill Griffith, 17 years old, third member of the murder trio, enroute here from Stockton, Cal., in custody of Detectives Connolly and Boroviak, attorneys for the slayers of Patrolman Jimmy Sullivan are expected to make the first move to save the three from the electric chair this week.

Griffith has confessed, according to advices from Stockton, to accompanying Eddie Jedlicka, 20 years old, and his brother, Anton Jedlicka, 19 years old, on the attempted holdup of the Coryell Oil station on April 4. He denied firing any shots, however, asserting all 17 bullets found in the wall of the filling station came from Eddie Jedlicka's gun.

Chief of Detectives Paul Sutton expects to refute this testimony by producing a .38 caliber bullet which was found at the scene by a newspaper man. Jedlicka carried two .32 caliber guns and Griffith a .38.

County Attorney Henry Beal is understood to be convinced that the heaviest penalty he could hope for from a jury would be life imprisonment. Beal, it was learned, would recommend acceptance of a second degree murder plea from Eddie Jedlicka and Griffith with a life sentence. This would have the expense of a trial. Even a lighter penalty would be acceptable for Anton Jedlicka, who stayed half a block away from the attempted robbery and who fled when he heard the shooting.

CONCORD CASE GOES

Watch Altogether Too

Valuable to Be Lost

A flock of reporters and camera men journeyed to Camden to interview Sir Hubert Wilkins, who had flown down to inspect his submarine, the Nautilus.

Sir Hubert is most obliging, being an old newspaper man himself. Finally a photographer hit upon the happy thought of having the Arctic explorer climb down on the side of the submarine, while the cameras clicked an "action" picture.

All went well until the strap on Sir Hubert's wrist watch snapped, and the handsome gift of the Rotary clubs plopped onto the only cake of ice in the river.

The aggregate brains of the Arctic explorer, the working press and many volunteers were called into action. Wires and sticks were used to no avail.

Finally a workman retrieved the valuable memento by means of a pair of riveter's tongs.

Sir Hubert fondly caressed his watch that had been snatched from a watery grave and said: "If I had lost that I would have to begin to buy lunches."

According to an inscription on the platinum chronometer that watch made Sir Hubert Wilkins guest extraordinary at all Rotary club gatherings. —Philadelphia Record.

One-Shirt Order Scored

Poor law functions in London have been harshly administered since the London county council took charge of administering it, was the accusation of Cecil Manning, Socialist member, at a recent council meeting. In siding with Manning, T. J. Blacketter said that at a meeting of one of the districts an aged applicant was granted one shirt, and the committee had the audacity to tell him he must sit in bed while it was washed.

Process Saves Much Oil

The fact that oil and water do not readily mix has been turned to good purpose in some of the falling fields in New York and Pennsylvania, where old wells have been made to flow again by flooding with water, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The process is simple. Water is pumped into wells under pressure, with the result that oil is forced through the sands into other wells that have been abandoned, but have not been flooded. Oil so recovered is said to be of superior quality, and experts estimate that some of the wells thus treated will have a commercial life of 30 to 50 years in the future.

High Cost of Debt

American families at any given time are in debt from twenty-two to twenty-six billion dollars. Of this total, eighteen to twenty billions are owed for groceries, meats, clothes, furniture and automobiles. —Collier's Weekly.

IT can BE DONE . . . but it isn't wise

You can run 1,500 or 2,000 miles without draining new POLARINE out of the crankcase.

But few engineers would recommend such a dangerous practice, with any oil.

Engineers know that clean oil of the right grade is essential to full power and long life in any motor. They recommend changing the oil at between 500 and 1,000 miles—even when the motor has an oil filtering device.

New Polarine is made to meet every modern engineering specification. It is refined from the most suitable crudes until wax, tar and all other harmful, non-lubricating materials are removed.

New Polarine clings to metal surfaces—resists thickening by cold and thinning by heat. It is furnished in every grade recommended by the Society of Automotive Engineers and will do everything for your motor that oil can do. Consult the chart for the correct grade to use.—25¢ a quart for all grades.
