COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By James W. Rooney,
County Extension Agent

Grasshopper Control

A number of farmers in the county are reporting some grasshopper trouble. Joe Callaway, of Dustin, Joy Hughes and A. T. Barnes of Atkinson, E. J. Revell and Arthur Alm, of Opportunity, William Walters, of Maple Grove, Will Rogers, of Scottville and B. B. Thomas, of Dorsey report that grasshoppers are present in large numbers.

Grasshoppers may be poisoned by using a poison bran mash. 100 lbs. of wheat bran, 4 lbs. of white arsenite or paris green, 3 ounces of amyl acetate or 1 dozen finely chopped oranges or lemons and water enough to make a wet mash. The poison should be mixed dry with the bran. Mix the amyl acetate in part of the water and pour the mixed bran and poison, stirring constantly.

Another formula which uses a sodium arsenite solution is as follows: 100 pounds bran, 2 gallons of sodium arsenite solution (3 ounces of amyl acetate, 2 quarts of sodium arsenite solution, 2 gallons blackstrap molasses,) water to make a wet mash. This sodium arsenite solution can be secured at cost through this office. A supply will be available by the middle of the week. This is the same poison that is being used in Boyd county. Best results from the mash are secured by spreading from 7 to 9 o'clock in the morning of a bright day. The mash can be broadcasted by hand from the rear of a wagon. Some men have used an endgate seeder, feeding the mash slowly into the hopper. If care is taken to see that the mash is spread thinly and evenly there will be little danger of poisoning birds. The mash should be kept away from poultry and domestic animals. In alfalfa fields, a few strips are left uncut the grasshoppers will congregate in these strips to feed. They may be poisoned there with a minimum of labor and material.

Janike To Tag Club Calves

Ed Janike, Assistant Extension Animal Husbandry, will tag the remainder of the Holt county baby heaves on July 1st. The calves in the Thrifty Calf Club of Amelia and the Middle Branch Baby Beef Club will be tagged at that time.

Mr. Janicke will discuss feeding and management with each boy. He has had practical experience in feeding livestock in 4-H Clubs. Ed was a member of the judging team while he attended the Agricultural College. Rules for 4-H News Writing Contest

Holt county news reporters will follow the rules developed by the Extension Service in their news writing contest. A condensed set of rules follows:

1. Contest is open to any news reporter of a Holt county 4-H Club.

2. At least four stories about the plans and activities of the club are to be written.

3. News writing lessons furnished by the Extension Service will be followed by contestants.

4. News value of the stories, the way they are written, the promptness with which they are sent in and the accuracy and neatness of the copy are all to be considered by the judges of the contest.

5. The winner of the contest will compete in the state news writing contest at Club Week next June.

Each contestant will be furnished with copy paper, a set of rules and a copy of a new news writing bulletin.

The 4-H Clubs of the county wish to thank the editors of the Holt County Independent, the Atkinson Graphic and the Stuart Advocate for making this contest possible.

Make Picnic Meals Easy to Prepare

Indoor meals are all right, but when the weather is ideal for picnics outdoor meals are in order. The meal preparation need not be a burden to anyone if a few suggestions given by the Extension Service of the Agricultural College are followed.

First of all to be considered is the meat. The meat may be cooked at the picnic or prepared previously. Steak, frankfurters, bacon and eggs may all be cooked at the picnic party. Ham, cold roast beef or pork, or fried chicken may be prepared beforehand. Long, soft rolls are very nice for sandwiches. If bread is prepared, the loaf may be taken whole and sliced when needed, or the sliced loaf may be used. Many people like raisin or nut bread sandwiches. Some salads may be made at the picnic such as lettuce and tomato, potato, chicken, or cabbage are other suggested salads. Salmon mixed with salad dressing, seasoning, chopped lettuce and a few drops of lemon makes a very good sandwich filling.

Possibilities in the prepared foods are potato chips, baked beans or scalloped potatoes. Deviled eggs are a part of many picnic dinners. Fresh pineapple and strawberries may be packed in a glass jar and served in tin cups. Grapes, oranges, bananas, peaches are other fruits which may be available. Pickles, olives and mustard all have a place in the lunch.

Cookies, cake or doughnuts supply the "sweet" of the dinner. Lemonade, orangeade, grape juice or coffee may be kept cold or hot in thermos jugs. Milk for the children may be kept cold in the same manner.

Do not forget to take along butter, cream and sugar, salt and pepper, paper napkins and plates, matches, bottle opener, knives, forks and spoons, bread knife, skillets, cups and plates, and long handled forks which may be used in stirring the food over the fire. With plenty of food, but not too much, no dishes to wash, good appetite and congenial company your pleasant picnic is assured.
