HOW TO CREATE A DEPRESSION

Visers were most anxious to curb men like Ford. Their scheme for taxing undistributed profits had the merit of not only baiting economic royalists like Mr. Ford, the Mellons or the Du Ponts—it also provided a large but uncertain revenue for their New Deal experiments.

The credit for this strange tax must be given to Professor Herman Oliphant, formerly head of the Institute of Law at John Hopkins university, who is now one of the principal officials of the United States Treasury.

While Dr. Oliphant was laboring to end the pernicious practice of developing business from an undistributed surplus of profits, other New Deal scholars had independently reached another important conclusion regarding capital. They held it wise to discourage investors from providing new capital for industry.

When Congress voted billions to Roosevelt to spend as he pleased, its members arranged their own abdication. The President, who is the shrewdest political manager on earth, used his spending power to enforce obedience.

While his coadjutors were shackling industry and finance, Mr. Roosevelt was not idle. He was leading the attack on his ancient foes, the public utility corporations and the railways.

CHARLES J. WARNER FILES FOR GOVERNOR

On Wednesday, February 2, Charles J. Warner, Waverly farmer, filed in the Republican Primary for the office of Governor of the state of Nebraska.

Mr. Warner said recently, "With my experience in the Nebraska legislature during thirteen sessions I believe I understand the problems involved in the government of this state. During all my active life I have lived on and operated a farm near Waverly, and farming is my vocation. I know the problems of agriculture, which is the basic industry of our State."

An so he contented himself by instigating the trade unions greatly to increase their costs while encouraging the Interstate Commerce Commission to show a masterly inactivity in considering the railway's application to increase rates.

Roosevelt's punitive mind is mirrored in the drastic extensions of the Capital Gains Tax. Through them he has certainly paid off old scores. The fact that he has also restricted investment and sterilized many types of desirable enterprise worries him not at all.

A Raw New Deal
Not long ago the President declared that the recovery in business was no mere turn of the trade cycle.

Not long ago the President declared that the recovery in business was no mere turn of the trade cycle. "We planned it so and don't let anyone tell you differently."

Will Congress Turn?
Congress may be incoherent, but it is not so flippant as the President and his posse of experimenting and irresponsible advisers.

whoopie over the mess created by Washington. The leaders of what is called the G.O.P.—R.I.P. are showing masterly political judgment by saying little and letting the Government forces fight among themselves.

The Real Menace
Republicans have now realized that there is little that is new or harmful in the New Deal. It was, to use a schoolboy's word, "cribbed" from the legislation of reasonable Reds like Bismarck and Lloyd George.

The most hopeful recent development in America is the growing movement to end a fantastic economic dictatorship by restoring Mr. Roosevelt to the Presidency.

The following people have attained an average of "B" or above in all subjects for the semester and thus deserve a place on the grade honor roll:

Fifth grade, Iola Wilkinson.
Eighth grade, Jerry Toy and Keith Vincent.

The honor roll in the various rooms for the past six weeks consists of the following names:

Third grade—Marva Losher, Naomi Knepper and Richard Morgan.
Fourth grade—J. R. Barnes and Gordon Hiatt.

Fifth grade—Richard Selah, Vincent Cunningham and Iola Wilkinson.

Sixth grade—Shirley Mae Clausen, Patricia Kruse, Phyllis Johnson and Bonnie Beth Yarnall.

Seventh grade—Ruth Burge, Dorothy Lowery, Buelah Johnson, Harold Calkins, Meredith McKenna and John Osenbaugh.

Eighth grade—Jerry Toy, Keith Vincent and Eula Classon.

Patricia Bruensack and Marjory Campbell, pupils of the first grade, have recently moved, Carter Begthol entered Monday, making the enrollment thirty-two.

Mrs. G. R. Noring was a visitor in the second grade Friday afternoon.

The Jungle scene on the sand table in the Fourth grade room seems to be the center of interest this week. The Sixth and Eighth grades were visitors Monday. In addition to viewing the exhibit some excellent reports were heard on products and animals of the jungle. As one of the Eighth grade boys expressed it, "Those Fourth graders certainly told us plenty that we don't know."

The "A" reading group in the Fourth grade has been making use of dramatization with very excellent results. Who knows there may be some potential Shirley Temple or Mickey Rooney material!

The Fourth Grade pupils are beginning work on Palmer awards for penmanship. They have been doing much practice work this past week as a preparation.

The Normal Training group observed a Geography class in the Seventh grade Monday. The lesson illustrated the problem method. "Rice as a Tropical Product" was the problem discussed.

The Eighth grade pupils took the county examinations offered Jan. 21. They report very few failures.

Dorothy Bennett brought in many interesting pictures of her trip to the Pacific coast last summer for the benefit of the Eighth grade.

Genevieve Graves should have been included on the list for the perfect attendance for the first semester in the Eighth Grade.

The Eighth graders are taking agriculture in place of geography of Nebraska.

The Seventh Graders are finding interest problems fun to work. It has brought clearly before the the value of absolute accuracy, for one small mistake means an entire problem wrong.

High School News

The report cards were distributed this week after being held up for a few days until all cards were returned from the preceding six weeks period.
