Death And Injury Toll Rises In Face of A Big Decrease In Accidents

A most encouraging drop in accidents during the week ending Jan. 22, 1938, was noted in the report issued by the State Department of Public Instruction and the Nebraska Press association. The accident total came to 246 as compared to 320 for the week ending Jan. 15. Injuries and deaths, however, showed an increase going from 222 the week ending Jan. 15, to 228 for last week. The death total came to fifteen, two more than the previous record. The children's report shows four children killed, one disabled, and twenty-three injured.

Automobile Accidents Reverse Downward Trend

Automobile accidents reversed their trend and stepped up to eighty-two last week in contrast to sixty-eight for the previous week. The casualty list went over the hundred mark, the 101 total almost doubling the fifty-seven of the previous record. Four people, two of them children, met death when their car collided with a motor train. Skidding was the cause of another death and a man died of injuries sustained when a truck crushed him against a wall. Two pedestrians were hit by cars and killed. One of the drivers is being held on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Two persons were disabled when tires blew out and cars were wrecked. Two more disabilities came as the result of collisions. A small boy was disabled in the automobile-train collision which cost the lives of four others.

Collisions were responsible for twenty-five injuries this week and skidding accounted for eighteen. Fourteen people were hurt when drivers lost control of their cars and six others when automobiles hit obstructions. Two people were hurt because a car had a mechanical defect, three others when tires blew out, and reckless driving was responsible for an injury. Six individuals were hurt in railroad crossing mishaps, another was burned in a fire, six more were hurt when parked cars were struck, and a man was injured when a runaway truck struck him. Two people suffered hand injuries from automobiles and a man was scalded when steam pressure threw hot water from the radiator in his face.

One hit and run driver was reported to have struck down a pedestrian. Besides the intoxicated driver mentioned above, another caused his own injury in a wreck.

Public Accidents Indicate Big Decrease

Other public accidents showed a big drop. The total went from 100 accidents for the week ending Jan. 15, to sixty-six for this report. The casualty list also decreased from seventy-five of the previous period to sixty-one for last week. A boy died of injuries sustained when he fell while ice skating. An elderly man fell from the bridge at a creek dam and was drowned.

Play and sports remained the leading contributor to injuries with twenty-four reported. Of that number eleven occurred in basketball games. Five children were hurt in accidents at school. Firearms added two injuries to the list and falls accounted for seventeen. Two people were badly burned and four were cut. Three persons had back injuries, three more suffered from infection, a pedestrian collided with a boy bicyclist who left immediately after the mishap, and a man was bitten by a dog. A needle was found embedded in a man's ankle bone and an operation was necessary to have it removed. Six public fires accounted for one injury.

Agriculture Makes Better Record

Agricultural accidents showed up somewhat better this week with a total of forty-two as compared to forty-nine of the previous record. Thirty-four people were injured or killed in contrast to forty-two last week. A farmer was killed when he was pinned underneath his tractor when it tipped over. Seven farmers were injured by farm animals during this period and five were hurt in falls. Twelve people were cut while sawing wood and one was badly burned. One man was injured by farm machinery, another had an eye injury, four were injured in wood chopping accidents, and still another was hurt in a runaway. There were seven fires.

Industry Has Lowest Mark In Months

Industrial accidents hit a new low in many months with seventeen accidents reported and ten on the casualty list. Last week there were twenty-six accidents in which eleven were injured or killed. Four workmen were hurt in falls and two were burned. One man was cut and two others were injured when their legs were caught between two forms on the Tri-County project. There were eight fires in which one man was burned.

Home Total Is Cut In Half

Home accidents were almost cut in half as forty-one accidents were recorded in contrast to seventy-seven the previous week. Twenty-two people were injured or killed as compared to thirty-seven of the previous record. Twenty-four fires occurred in the homes and were responsible for one injury and death to two small children. Two elderly persons died of injuries sustained in falls. Ten people were injured that way. Five people sustained serious burns. Two children were badly hurt in washing machine accidents this week. This makes a total of seventy-seven such accidents in the last four months.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

Parents are urged to evaluate the type of work that has been done by the student during the past semester. Your aid and cooperation for the improvement of the student's progress is always desirable. Visit the school and talk over any individual problems with the teacher.

In order that the student may have favorable opportunity to receive the most benefit from school work, we urge you to put forth every effort to make attendance regular.

Give special attention to the citizenship rating that is being earned. It's the average of the ratings made by all the teachers. The citizenship mark is more important than any of the other grades earned in determining the present and future welfare of the individual.

The following students have achieved outstanding records for which they deserve special recognition. They have been neither absent nor tardy during the entire first semester:

Freshmen—Betty Lou Alm, Clifford Burival, George Hendrick, Irene Hershiser, Francis Holz, Sawton Janzen, Rachel Salmons, Dorothy Yocum, Sophomores—William Allendorfer, Clay Johnson, Dorothy Larson, Ruth Page and Leland Spry.

Juniors—Veva Alm, Fred Halva. Seniors—Elizabeth Graves, Alice Ricken Alice Sexsmith, Helene Suchy and Margie Wyant.

Speech
Practice does not make perfect, since only perfect practice makes perfect. The public speaking class will try to give a short announcement which will be as near perfect as possible.

Shop
The advanced shop class members have nearly all completed the use of the turning lathe on their projects. Work of assembling will soon be under way.

Band
New members of the band are having lots of fun trying to keep up.

English
The "Reader's Digest" is being used as supplementary reading matter for the English classes.

O'NEILL HATCHERY

One day each week will be devoted to class discussion. A work test exercise will be used as a means of vocabulary building.

Library
The library class is studying the physical makeup of books and how to judge books without reading them. They will soon start on a project of giving critical reviews of books.

It is said that one way to stimulate business would be to get rid of about 7,000,000 second hand cars now cluttering the market and the roads. Why not have Uncle Sam purchase them and give 'em to those folks on relief who don't have a car?

The war reports from Spain are about as conflicting as some of the policies of the New Deal.

According to press dispatches, Ecuador is facing trouble with her monopolies. We might lend her Assistant Attorney Robert Jackson for a few months.

Miss Loreine Welte, dancing instructor from Norfolk, will be in O'Neill Saturday, Feb. 5th, to organize dancing classes. Miss Welte will be in the dining room of the Golden hotel on Saturday. Anyone interested in joining her classes call at the dining room of the Golden hotel any time during the day of Saturday, Feb. 5. Miss Welte is equipped to teach all types of dancing including ballet, acrobatic, tap and ball room. She will give both individual and class instruction at a very low price, every Saturday for ten weeks. Her course of study will close with a large dance review.
