HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The University of Nebraska is sponsoring its ninth annual Regents' Scholarship Awards this year. Seniors ranking in the upper fourth of their class scholastically were eligible to take the Regents' Examinations which will be given on April 11 and 12. The Seniors in the O'Neill high school who are eligible and will take these examinations are: Robert Ott, Cleo Crabb, Lyle Hartford, Virgil Johnson, Alice Sexsmith, Elizabeth Graves, Dora Hughes, Leonard Young and Nadine Kilpartick.

Probably 2,000 seniors in Nebraska high schools will take these examinations this year and from that number, 250 seniors will be awarded free tuition scholarships to the University of Nebraska for next year. Virgil Johnson, Lyle Hartford and Cleo Crabb will take the classification test in algebra at that time. The mathematics test is required of all students entering engineering college at the University.

Hazel Rouse's name should have been listed on the "B" honor roll and Robert Clift on the "A" honor roll according to the list given last week.

Julius Caesar, the tragedy by Wm. Shakespeare, is being studied by the tenth English class. Each student has a contract which will permit him to earn extra credit for certain work that he does.

The literature of the civil war period is being studied by the American literature class.

Last Friday the American history class discussed the shifting balance of power in Europe. They have just completed a unit on expansion westward illustrating each gain made by the United States by map work.

The library class has just finished a filing project, the object of which was to teach proper filing construction of catalog cards.

Bob Clift gave a fine description of the Roman Forum before the Caesar class last week. Miriam Kubichek discussed the coliseum.

The seniors have had their pictures taken and are quite pleased with "themselves." Commencement announcements are being ordered this week; tryouts for the senior class play, "A Wood Violet" are this week. All these things make us realize that it is only a short time until the seniors of 1938 will be Alumnae of the O'Neill high school.

There is much excitement in the commercial department as the students prepare for the first commercial contest the public school has participated in. The contest is to be held at Orchard Saturday, March 19. The advanced commercial contestants will be: Margie Wyant, Robert Ott, Helene Suchy, Alice Reiken and Cleo Crabb. The first year contestants will be: Viva Alm, Hazel Rouse, Dora Hughes.

The band gave its benefit show "Breakfast for Two" Tuesday night to only a fair house.

L. M. Durham and Junior Harris drove to Elgin Saturday and returned Sunday.

The band was out Tuesday night and played a short concert in front of the theatre, advertising their show.

The topic for this week shop classes: Accidents and how to avoid them; general road hazards; how to pass; correct signs to use while passing, turning and backing; general signals found on highways and in streets of cities.

The art class is making four cut out posters free hand cutting from the chromo papers representing 1, landscape, 2, advertising, 3, season, 4, Mother Goose. The class is finding it quite interesting to study colors and their best combinations.

GRADE NEWS

Signs of spring are being eagerly watched for by the boys and girls. The fourth grade has made a chart which shows that the robin, meadow lark, and wood pecker have already made their appearance.

The decorations in the various rooms, kites flying, windmills turning, and Dutch boys and girls surrounded by gay tulips, also indicate that spring is in the air.

The "Dutch Twins" is the book of the week in the third grade.

The brownies of the first grade are preparing the story "Don a Collie Dog" to read to the third grade. The fairies are reading their seventh book this year. The elves are enjoying a new book, also, and are proud of their daily improvement.

The "A" reading group of the fourth grade are learning to read a newspaper intelligently. World, national, state and local news is being collected and classified on the new bulletin board.

"The Song of Hugh Glass" by John G. Neihardt, Nebraska's own poet laureate, is proving of great interest to the eighth grade reading class. Much of the action and setting of the story is in Nebraska which gives it an added interest.

Barbara Walling was the winner of the review spelling contest in the second grade. She had a perfect score. Arthur Tibbets was second, missing only one word.

Posters, in connection with the study of silk in the third grade, are being made. Fujiyama, Japan's picturesque and sacred volcano; pretty Japanese girls; baskets of cocoons and the branch of a mulberry tree furnish timely subjects to illustrate this industry.

Original stories in English in the fourth grade are acquiring new interest through the use of conversation, action and description. The characters have become real, not mere names on paper.

The seventh grade history class is studying the making of the Constitution. The convention itself is being dramatized and some fiery debates are in progress. Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Jas. Madison and other illustrious men of this period are present and are doing all they can to bring about a peaceful compromise.

Meredith McKenna, as George Washington, is acting as chairman of the Convention.

The eighth grade is doing extensive review work, in preparation for the state examinations which will take place in April. A special review class has been started in general geography.

The art class is studying designs, motifs and borders.

Taxes, sources of federal income and national expenses are being studied in arithmetic.

The perfect attendance in this room was 65 per cent last week.

Mrs. E. F. Peterson and daughter Marlene, visited the seventh and eighth grades Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Richards were third grade visitors this week. Wallace Shellhamer, who has been absent for three weeks due to Scarlet fever, is back at his work in the first grade. Somehow the first grade wasn't quite the same without "Wally," so they are glad to have him back.
