Welding Instruction Given Here Tuesday

With the cooperation of the Mellor Motor company of this city the Balbach company of Omaha, manufacturers of oxygen and acetylene and distributors of welding equipment, put on their second oxygen-acetylene welding school in this city last Tuesday.

The school was in charge of J. C. Danovich, George Trapp and George T. Lloyd. Despite the bad roads they had a very good attendance at the school, welders from a radius of eighty miles being present, and they gave close attention to the school which lasted all day. The school covers the various new methods of oxy-acetylene welding of cast iron castings, aluminum castings, auto frames; the preheating of cast iron motor blocks and cylinder heads, the hard surfacing of plow shares and lister shares and the welding of various new metals that are now being manufactured.

Leslie Irving Puckett

Leslie Irving, son of Richard and Phoebe Frazier Puckett, was born in Henry county near Salem, Iowa, on June 22, 1856, and died May 5, 1938, aged 71 years, 10 months and 14 days.

His father was a Quaker minister and when Leslie was 16 years of age moved with his family to Allen, Nebr. He was united in marriage to Clara Luella Roberts near Allen on Christmas eve, Dec. 24, 1886. To this union thirteen children were born, a son and twin daughters having died at birth. The children are: Mrs. Ida Hyatt, Fort Morgan, Colo.; Fay A. Puckett, O'Neill; Mrs. Lena Engle, Melba, Idaho; Mrs. Florence Willeman, Rushville, Mo.; Mrs. Orpha Larrance, Caldwell, Idaho; Bryan Puckett, deceased; Walter Puckett, Emmet, Nebr.; Guy Leslie Puckett, Tuscon, Ariz.; Gladys Lama, deceased, and Clyde Puckett, Wilder, Idaho. All except Guy were present, with their mother, at the funeral.

Two brothers, Ira, Allen, Nebr.; Ralph of Los Angeles, who was present at the funeral, and one sister, Mrs. Laura Anderson of Lancaster, Ohio, and nineteen grandchildren survive the deceased.

The family moved to Holt county in 1892 and lived near O'Neill and Atkinson with the exception of two years, 1915 and 1916, spent at Central City, Nebr. In 1926 they moved to Wilder, Idaho, where he resided at the time of his death.

He was a birthright Quaker and earnest Christian in his earlier young manhood, always a moral man, standing for the highest ideals and holding positions of trust in his community. He was undaunted by public sentiment in casting his first vote for the prohibition ticket.

We was renewed during revival services at Green Leaf, Idaho, in December two years ago, and his public testimony and especially to his family has been that these were the happiest years of his life.

He was a man of unusual determination, who was never discouraged by hardships or failure, and his word was as good as his bond. He was a most tender and loving husband and father.

His last public testimony was that "He thanked the Lord for the peace and joy that he had in his heart." xxx.
