Thru the courtesy of Dr. G. W. French the writer had the opportunity Sunday morning to travel over the eastern side of Holt county and a few miles into the western edge of Knox county. The Doctor was on his way to visit a patient that lived in Knox county and invited us to go along for company. When we finally pulled up at the home of his patient a glance at the speedometer disclosed the fact that we had traveled thirty-two miles. Crops in eastern Holt and western Knox are looking fine, but a little moisture would be appreciated by the farmers in both counties. It has been nearly a month since rain visited the section of Knox county that we were in and they tell us they need rain and that grasshoppers are very bad. We are hoping that a good rain within a few days will make things fine again.

Petrow Amazed At House Restaurant
John Petrow who runs a swell restaurant in Fremont was in town with Mrs. Petrow. They were on their way to Philadelphia to attend commencement at Swarthmore college where their son, Cris, will graduate. While here, John had his luncheon in the House restaurant. He was amazed that Uncle Sam is in the restaurant business and although it was hard to get seating room, he was equally amazed when he was told that the government restaurant goes in the hole thirty thousand dollars a year. John found the prices for food high and the tips to waiters high, and he is confident that he can improve upon the food. When this Nebraskan asked "why?" he was told that a lot of people have asked the same question. A lot of members have complained and tried to stop it, but nothing has ever been done about it. There are normal schools in Nebraska, including Wayne, where the students run their cafes at a profit.

Rule Honored In Breach
A very prominent official club was giving a luncheon for its old charter members the other day. The club has a fine building where it meets for these occasions. They have a rule against smoking. They had a group of talented girl musicians to do the entertaining. The girls of the flapper type asked the club secretary if they could smoke while they were waiting for the prominent guests to arrive. They were told in "no uncertain" terms that they couldn't. Then along came the group of old ladies who thirty or more years ago formed the club. These old gray-haired ladies sat in a group and talked of old times. Then the young girls who were quite nervous in the presence of the old dames started to giggle. The cause of their giggling was soon identified when each of the old ladies brought out cases and matches and started puffing away at cigarettes.
