This office is in receipt of a letter from John Stoff ordering his copy of The Frontier changed from Baker, Oregon, to Nampa, Idaho. John and his brother Bernard had been operating a hotel at Baker for the past two years, but sold out there a few weeks ago and are now located in the Idaho city. Nampa is only a few miles from Boise, the capital of that state. In his letter he did not state what business he and Bernard were engaged in at Nampa, but they are at work for they are the industrious kind of men and cannot remain idle. They sent best regards to their many friends in this city and vicinity.
