

Dedicate Memorial to Beloved Humorist

Standing atop a lonely hill near Claremore, Okla., the home town of Will Rogers, the $200,000 Will Rogers memorial nears completion. The building will house possessions and mementoes of the late humorist-philosopher. Inset shows Vice President John Nance Garner, chief speaker at dedication ceremonies November 4.

$1,000,000 Oil Blast Rocks New Jersey Town

This remarkable air view shows huge clouds of black smoke and flames billowing from Cities Service Oil company plant after 15 gigantic oil tanks exploded at Linden, N. J. Fed by millions of gallons of petroleum, the flames did damage estimated at $1,000,000.

"Ears" of Anti-Aircraft Artillery

Photograph shows one of the new streamlined sound detectors the army tested during the air corps and aircraft defense maneuvers in North Carolina. The listening horns are made of balsa wood with rounded edges and a cellulose acetate covering. They have no greater hearing power than the old style, but are more effective in shutting out all but plane noises. Thus searchlights and guns of the anti-aircraft batteries can be trained more efficiently on attacking planes.

Officiates at Eucharistic Congress

George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago is shown with the aspersorium in hand as he blessed the crowds upon entering St. Louis cathedral during the ceremony which marked his formal assumption of the role of legate for Pope Pius XI at the Eucharistic congress at New Orleans. The cathedral, built in 1794, stands on the spot where the first Catholic church in the Mississippi valley had been erected 76 years previously.

Win Awards for Outstanding Air Feats

Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, left, presents the Mackay trophy for 1937 to Captains Carl J. Crane and George V. Holloman for their work in developing and demonstrating the original automatic landing device for aircraft. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, far right, awards the Distinguished Flying Cross to Lieut. R. L. Burke of the coast guard for his rescue by seaplane of several injured seamen from the fishing trawler Shawmut off the Massachusetts coast in 1933.

Dog Adopts Cat and Rabbit as Her Children

Although Wurka, 18-month-old German police dog, has never been a mother, her instinct to care for younger and weaker animals has resulted in the adoption of a queer pair of "children." Trigger, a calico kitten a few weeks old, and Triggs, a wild baby jackrabbit, allow themselves to be mothered by the dog. Photograph shows Wurka with the jackrabbit and the mother of the kitten, who does not object to the sharing of maternal duties. Their home is in Los Angeles.

SALLY, SANS FANS

Here is Sally Rand, fan dancer, doing a bit of explaining in a Los Angeles justice court, where she was haled to answer charges of biting and scratching one Miss Hazel Drain in a scuffle over candid camera photographs of Sally, assertedly taken in a theater.

FASTING PREACHER

Reverend Lazar Kirichenkoff of Palmerton, Pa., is shown at the typewriter on the twelfth day of his fast, undertaken to induce young people to attend church services. Members of his congregation at St. George's Russian Orthodox church opposed his fast, charging that he is "bringing shame to our church," and begged the pastor to give up "this monkey business."

KER-C-H-O-O!!

Pretty Jean McNally has tossed her hankie into the ring to vie for honors as "hay fever queen" in the novel contest conducted at Galveston, Texas, among the hay fever colony. Galveston's medical authorities say that this is one of the most virulent seasons in years for sufferers of the allergic affliction. Miss McNally was given odds to win by a nose.

CAMERA SHY

This lioness mother at Chicago's Lincoln Park zoo carries her three-week-old cub to safety when the photographer appears. It looks dangerous for the youngster but mother is mighty careful not to scratch her offspring in transit. An intruder would find the same jaws merciless.

Called Typical American Family

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Craig and their two children, William Glenn, four, and Emma Lou, eight, the typical American family from Muncie, Ind., are shown as they posed for photographers on their arrival in New York for a week's stay under the sponsorship of the National Institute for Straight Thinking.

City Men Adopt Farmer Roles

M. Lee Marshall, left, baking company official, and Grover A. Whalen, president of the New York World's fair 1939, pictured in overalls at ceremonies marking the planting of a wheat field alongside the Continental Baking exhibit building in the fair grounds. Wheat will be grown in New York city for the first time in 65 years.

Hanging Shelves You Can Make of Spools

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

WHEN a number of persons have the same idea at the same time there is a reason. Recently I helped a friend make hanging book shelves of spools she had been saving. Today there comes a letter from a reader who says, "I have found so many helpful things in your Book 1—SEWING for the Home Decorator, I wonder if you have any ideas on fixing up spools? I have in mind the spool book shelves and corner shelves they used long ago." It's probably the general revival of Victorian ideas in decoration that has started everyone thinking of spool shelves.

We seemed to remember that the shelves we had seen years ago in old parlors were put together with colored cords. We tried this but the shelves were not rigid as the cords stretched. So we used wire and the result has been a substantial set of shelves strong enough to hold reasonably heavy articles. We bought the wire at a hardware store. It should be just stiff enough to bend easily with a pair of pliers.

A little less than 12½ feet of wire was used for the shelves shown here. Two sizes of spools were used. Shelves, spools, wires and all were finally painted to match the brightest tone in the room color scheme—in our case it was peacock blue. There are picture directions like these on every page of Book No. 1—SEWING, for the Home Decorator. If your house is your hobby, it will be full of thrills for you. Don't go through the holidays with shabby curtains or slipcovers. This book illustrates every step in making new ones. Book 2: Novelties and Embroidery, shows how to make dozens of Christmas gifts from odds and ends of material. Books are 25 cents each. If you order both books an interesting quilt leaflet included free. Address: Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplains St., Chicago, Ill.

Wait, Mother—Ask Your Doctor First

Never give your children unknown "Bargain" remedies to take unless you ask your doctor.

A mother may save a few pennies giving her children unknown preparations. But a child's life is precious beyond pennies. So—Ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about.

And when giving the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, always ask for "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation—marvelously gentle for youngsters.

Many children like Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips'. 25¢ for a big box.

A bottle of Phillips' liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25¢. So—anyone can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."
