

Artificial Flies for the Nation's Critical Anglers

With the old-fashioned worm fishing becoming a thing of the past, thousands of fishermen are using various kinds of flies to attract their prey. Here workers are busy in a Freeport, Maine, factory, one of the country's largest, turning out flies made from the feathers of bright-colored birds imported from all parts of the world. The feathers must be correct as to color, size and weight for the fish they are meant to lure. Feathers shown include peacock, ostrich, kingfisher, African jungle cock, and Mexican macaw feathers.

East Side Kids Model Latest in Informal Attire

And It Really Isn't Done With Mirrors

This is the kind of fishing the not-too-energetic angler dreams about. Homer Harris and his son, Bill, of Atlanta, Ga., don't bother with hooks. And it isn't done with mirrors. Fishermen take their boats to the lair of a school of trout in Jackson lake, and as the fish make their quick, arching leaps out of the water, the side of the boat is tilted and the fish falls to the bottom of the boat. In two hours these men caught 18 pounds of unhooked trout.

French Babies Protected From Gas Attack

In the event of war and threat of gas attacks, French babies under two years of age will be protected by means of a respiratory device which is connected with the gas mask of the mother. Not strong enough to open the air veins in a regulation gas mask, they are protected by this means. The baby's covering is made of fireproof silk. Professor Le Mee, left, invented the device.

JUNGLE STYLIST

Osa Johnson, famous African explorer and producer of wild animal films, is shown demonstrating a high-powered elephant gun which she will carry on her next safari. Mrs. Johnson's clothes are especially designed for use in the jungle.

IN THE BAG

Sir John Simon, England's chancellor of the exchequer, seems to have Britain's budget in the bag. It was no laughing matter, however, to the house of commons when he set before that body a staggering budget swollen by the cost of war preparations.

Student Weavers, Dressmakers Stage Fashion Show

Student spinners, weavers, designers and dressmakers of North Carolina co-operate once a year in presenting a cotton style show at the State college in Raleigh. Men students in the college's textile school, largest in America, plant the fabrics, select patterns and dyes, comb yarn, make the threads, then weave the fabric on looms. Then the material is delivered to students from nine girls' schools, who design and manufacture all types of garments. The finished product is shown at the State college style show. Left: Yarn as it goes through the comb, one of the first steps. Center: College girls measuring and manufacturing the various garments. Right: The completed garment being modeled.

Harvard Student Upsets Girls' Hoop-Rolling Derby

Edward C. K. Reed of Villanova, Pa., president of the Harvard Lampoon, disguised himself as a girl and won the traditional Wellesley senior class hoop-rolling contest on the college campus in Wellesley, Mass. Reed is shown emerging from icy Lake Waban where he was tossed by the angry girls. The ducking occurred after Reed coyly accepted a bouquet of sweet peas and bashfully pointed out another Harvard youth as the "fiance" he would soon wed. Traditionally, the winners of the hoop-rolling race will be the first of her class to marry.

Newsmen View New Low Priced Car

A new low-priced, two-cylinder car, designed for a top speed of 50 miles per hour and a fuel consumption of 50 miles to the gallon, was recently previewed by newspaper men at the Indianapolis speedway. The car, which will sell for a $350 top price, is only 10 feet long, weighs 925 pounds, has a gas tank of four-gallon capacity and the crankcase holds only two quarts of oil. The engine is air cooled.

'Worthless' Outchews Goldfish Eaters

"Worthless," a South American cuscus, who looks something like an American opossum, enjoys its favorite food at a Los Angeles animal hospital. He is swallowing an American Beauty rose, after the manner of goldfish eaters. "Worthless" is dappled brown with a white tail.

CHIEF OF STAFF

Brig. Gen. George S. Marshall, appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed Gen. Malin Craig as chief of staff of the army when the latter retires in August. The new chief of staff is a native of Uniontown, Pa., and rose from the ranks.

Her visits with celebrities, appearance in style shows, in which she modeled smart cotton garments, and radio broadcasts told the story of cotton to the nation.

A Quiet Scene

TURN out of the way a little, good scholar, toward yonder high honey-suckle hedge; there we'll sit and sing whilst this shower falls so gently upon the teeming earth, and gives yet a sweeter smell to the lovely flowers that adorn these verdant meadows.

Look, under that broad beech-tree I sat down when I was last this way, a-fishing, and the birds in the adjoining grove seemed to have a friendly contention with an echo, whose dead voice seemed to live in a hollow tree, near to the brow of that primrose-hill; there I sat viewing the other streams glide silently toward their center, the tempestuous sea; yet some times opposed by rugged roots, and pebble stones, which broke their waves, and turned them into foam; and sometimes I beguiled time by viewing the harmless lambs, some leaping securely in the cool shade, while others disported themselves in the cheerful sun; and saw others craving comfort from the swollen udders of their bleating dams. As I thus sat, these other sights had so fully possessed my soul with content, that I thought, as the poet hath happily expressed it:

I was for that time lifted above earth; And possessed joys not promised in my birth.

—Isaac Walton.

FAIR PLAY FOR ALL

"OUR country is great not because the majority or the powerful rule. It is great because the minority is protected and the less influential respected." —U. S. Senator Elbert D. Thomas.

Too Great a Price
A laugh costs too much when bought at the expense of virtue.—Quintilian.

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for functional kidney disorder and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be warning of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!
