What has become of the O'Neill tennis players. A few years ago considerable money was spent in getting a court fixed up and there was not a day during the summer months but what the lovers of this exciting game were not in action on the courts. The courts have now grown to weeds and there has not been a game played there in many months. Are the young folks getting old before their time?

Johnson's Drugs

NOSE and THROAT infections

INFECTIONS that sometime afflict the delicate membranes of nose and throat from swimming, or from other sources such as the common summer cold, are not dangerous if you see your doctor. Serious consequences can develop only when too great reliance is placed in self-diagnosis and treatment that may not get at the real trouble.

TODAY IS July 6th

Our greatest independence is our deliverance from diseases once considered mortal. Now, when sickness strikes, we can depend upon our doctor. Let's let him know he can do the same with us by putting something to ward his bill this month.

Prescriptions vs. READY-MADE MEDICINES

As long as human beings are born in individual units, they will remain individuals always—in physical make-up the same as in appearance. For this reason, medication is one thing that does not lend itself to the great American mass production technique.

When you are sick, go to your doctor. He will write a prescription for medicine, if any is needed, that exactly fits his diagnosis of your individual needs. This is professional medication.
