

THE FRONTIER

Fight For Leniency On Loans
Jointly with Senator Capper of Kansas, the Third District member is pressing a campaign among farm district members in the House in the interest of more lenient conditions surrounding demands for principal and interest payments on Federal Land Bank and Commissioner loans, also, the initiation of foreclosures. Senator Capper feels that this bill containing a moratorium provision, may not get far during this session. About five bills similar to the one introduced by the Kansas Senator, have been introduced in the two houses.

Agriculture Must Prosper If Depression To Be Broken
A new independent non-partisan group of members formed a militant organization to protect beneficial farm legislation already passed and to continue the fight for pending farm legislation of desirable character. The group selected Jed Johnson of Oklahoma as its chairman and Bill Lemke of North Dakota, secretary. About 100 farm bills have been introduced by members of this group but principal efforts will be put behind the farm mortgage refinancing bill, cost-of-production bill and legislation designed to increase and stabilize the purchasing power of farmers.

About thirty members started the organization with prospects of recruiting about 100 more. The organization is open to members from all of the farming districts in the country. Its objective is complete cooperation and coordination in the House of Representatives in the interests of Agriculture. The group has registered its conviction that unless farm purchasing power is restored the depression will never be broken. Some of the leading democratic and republican members have joined the group, along with progressives and farm-laborites.

G-Men Train Officers
About fifty law enforcement officers from many states and one from Shanghai, China, have just completed a course of instruction under the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They had graduation exercises at the Bureau Saturday and about 1000 people attended. Attorney General Frank Murphy and J. Edgar Hoover addressed the graduates. They now go home to pass their information on to other members of the home forces. These graduates become contacts and recruits for the FBI. Their course of about twelve weeks' work included considerable target practice at Quantico, the Marine station in Virginia. The school is now four years old and lists among its graduates thousands of law enforcement officers who live in most states of the union. E. J. Nickolite of Columbus is among the graduates.

Coalition Lead to War
Why are the world powers trying to form a coalition with Communistic Russia? The answer to that is the usual British specialty of fabricating coalitions. It is admitted Britain wants us in the coalition program. If we get in, there's no use talking neutrality. People ought to be told the truth. We are either neutral or we are going to take sides. Most letters say that we should remain neutral. Sympathy is mostly with the former allies. But if Americans want to be really neutral then we can't take sides with anyone. In case of war it is a known fact that America sympathizes with Britain and France. Will that lead us into war? No one knows. The heart of America seems to say: 'STAY OUT OF ALL OF IT AND TAKE SIDES WITH NOBODY.'

Policies Clash Head-On
During the first ten months of this current fiscal year the Department of Agriculture reports a drop of 21% in the value of our agricultural exports. This decline is largely due to a reduction of cot-

Former O'Neill Resident Spends Week End Here Visiting Relatives

W. A. Woodruff, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, arrived last Saturday for a short visit with his sister, Mrs. Charlotte Planck and his niece, Mrs. R. M. Sauer. Mr. Woodruff was one of the pioneer residents of this county having taken a homestead in Cleveland township in the early eighties. He later took the civil service examination and was appointed to the railway mail service and served on the O'Neill mail postoffice between O'Neill and Sioux City serving in that capacity for many years. While a resident of this city he lived on Everett street between Sixth and Seventh street, in a home that he built. He moved from this city thirty-two years ago to Sioux City where he resided for several years then moved to Council Bluffs. He is about 82 years of age but seems to be enjoying life to the utmost. His wife passed away a couple of years ago and since that time he has been making his home with a daughter in the Bluffs. He returned home Tuesday.

Attends Family Reunion In New Mexico

Last Monday, L. A. Ott, living north of this city, returned from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where he had attended a family reunion in honor of his father, O. E. Ott, one of the pioneer residents of the Blackbird country. Mr. Ott came to this county in 1887, moving here from Iowa and was a resident of the county until 1915 when he moved to Tennessee, where he lived until the death of his wife in 1933. Since that time he has been spending his time with his children. His last visit to Holt county was in 1937 when he was here and attended the Old Settlers Picnic. Nine children, now all married, were present at the reunion. Five of them live in different parts of Tennessee and were all present. Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, of Wichita Falls, Texas; Mrs. Arthur Roberts and Mrs. Stanley Phillippi, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and L. A. Ott, of O'Neill, were in attendance and all were former residents of this county. The children spent a week visiting historic points of interest near the old New Mexico city and had several outings in the mountains prior to their departure for home. Mr. Ott has been in Albuquerque all summer visiting his daughters, but returned to Tennessee for the balance of the summer. He is 76 years of age but is hale and hearty and desired to be remembered to all his old friends here.

The Weather

It has been excessively hot and dry in this section of the state the past week. While portions of the state had some rain on Sunday night and Monday and Tuesday this particular locality was not so favored. A small shower fell in the western part of the county last Sunday night, with a fair rain north along the Niobrara river, but this city received nothing but a wind storm. The west end of the county received a light shower on Tuesday afternoon, and the country south of this city received a good rain the same afternoon, but it did not cover much territory. This section must have rain before the week is over if we expect to have any corn. Following is the chart for the week:

Mortgaging Property He Did Not Own Brings Penitentiary Sentence

George R. Barnes, who resides north and west of Emmet, was sentenced to a term of from one to five years in the State Penitentiary Tuesday by Judge Robert R. Dickson upon his plea of guilty to two counts charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses from the O'Neill National Bank. The charges filed against Barnes recite that on one occasion he obtained $100.00 from the O'Neill National Bank by representing that he owned certain livestock, and mortgaging the same, without actually owning it. Later he obtained an additional $150.00 and mortgaged livestock that he did not own, representing that he did own and have it.

Half Century of Religious Service to Be Celebrated With Jubilee Sunday

On Sunday, July 23, Sister Mary Catherine of St. Mary's Academy, O'Neill, Nebraska, will celebrate the Golden Jubilee of her consecration to God in religious life.
Sister Catherine was born in Junction City, Ohio. She entered the novitiate at Buffalo, N. Y. The novitiate has since been transferred to Stella Niagara, N. Y. The early years of her religious life were spent at St. Vincent's Orphanage, Columbus, Ohio, where she was a real mother to the little ones entrusted to the care of the good Sisters.

When the Sisters were asked to take charge of the Indian children at Holy Rosary Mission, Pine Ridge, South Dakota, Sister Catherine was one of the chosen band. She lived through all the anxiety, or shall we call it thrill of the Custer-Indian troubles. Sister relates that at one time the Mission was in real danger; the Sisters were advised to flee, but as Mother Leopoldine, then Superior, intended to remain at her post so that the Mission would not be lost to the Sisters, her spiritual daughters loyally risked the danger with her, and the Mission was passed by without being molested.

In 1900, at the request of the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. F. Cassidy, three Sisters from Holy Rosary Mission came to O'Neill to begin anew the building of a convent and school, the first convent, destined to be a home for Dominican Sisters, having been destroyed by fire. Sister Catherine was one of the pioneers. Older residents of O'Neill will remember the Nolan home as the residence of the Sisters before the completion of the convent, and Sister Catherine as one of the faithful, hard-working Sisters who helped to make life easier for the teaching Sisters who joined them from the East. In those days classes were held in the old Rink and in the Church.

Upon completion of the convent, it became Sister Catherine's duty to care for the lamps. Electric lights were not in use at that time at St. Mary's. Many of the old girls will recall memories of Sister going quietly from room to room with a lantern in her hand, trimming the lamps and cleaning the chimneys. Girls of a later date remember her as cook, or as Sister in charge of the dining room, while the present generation will find her caring for milk and cream and butter. So methodical and regular is Sister in her work that one might tell the time of day by location of Sister Catherine. Smilingly, cheerfully, unassumingly she has gone her way, ever ready to lend a helping hand to others, always speaking the kind word. Time has crept upon her unawares, the steps are slower, the hands more toil-worn and wrinkled; the steady performance of duty has become a little more difficult, but the heart is young, and Sister Catherine looks forward to her Golden Jubilee with the joy of one who has earned the reward of fidelity to the vows of her youth and whose heart exults in a Te Deum for the blessings of fifty golden years.

Misses Ethel Tasler and Ruby Weisman spent the week end in Norfolk as the guests of Miss Leonie Kuskie.

Mountain Air Must Have Rejuvenated Hank

Old Bunker Hill, north of Carson, which pokes its head 2,500 feet skyward has a new conqueror. It isn't considered much of a feat for young natives to follow the dim trail to its summit—but here comes a Nebraskan, 80 years old, who takes a look and sets his face toward the timbered top of the steep old mountain.

R. H. Mills, of O'Neill, Nebr., is the guest of his daughter and family, Mrs. Cecil V. Brown, of Carson. The last 60 of his 80 years, Mr. Mills had spent on the rolling plains of the Cornhusker state. Arriving here, he felt a desire to do a little climbing and, while Bunker Hill was not the highest peak, it was conveniently near, and off he starts. He went the distance to the top without aid—and came down in the same way, just to demonstrate "the kind of material that comes from Nebraska."

Mr. Mills is enjoying his visit in the Northwest, his first to the mountain area, and expects to remain several weeks. He claims the title as "the oldest mountain climber in the world."—The Skamania County Pioneer, Stevenson, Wash., July 7, 1939.

Pioneer Celebrates 83rd Birthday

Mrs. Wilhema Stein celebrated her 83 birthday last Sunday or rather relatives arranged the celebration, when thirty-nine gathered at her home north of this city and proceeded to make merry for the day. A splendid birthday dinner was served in the evening and all present really enjoyed themselves, as did also Grandma Stein in the presence of so many of her relatives with her on her birthday.

Mrs. Stein came to this county with her husband in 1882, and they located north of this city. Mr. Stein passed away in 1927 but Mrs. Stein has been a resident of this county and the same farm for fifty-seven years and is now one of the oldest residents in that section of the county. She still lives on the old home place with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll, who are farming the place.
