Lincoln—Beginning with the polite amenities of political warfare, Burke-Cochran contest will inevitably become bitter—some declare that the two participants may exchange so many criticisms that they may make another primary choice necessary.

The followers of Cochran are preparing a barrage of criticism based on Burke's votes in congress. Burke partisans are making copies of letters discovered in the files of FMAC with quotations from the writings of "Safety Sam" Holmes. A letter written by Hauser outlines the methods of snaring investors in the vicinity of St. Paul and urges that similar plans be used to "put bird dogs in the field" at Crete and Milligan.

Rumors are incirculation that a dark horse candidate with open administration support may be placed in the running late in February, 1940.

The scrap to secure the coveted post of national committeeman in the republican party will be three cornered, perhaps acrimonious. Lyle Jackson, present state chairman, will file. Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City and Ira Benyon of Lincoln will be in the race.

John B. Quinn of Lincoln has been appointed state membership chairman of the Nebraska Young Republican organization. He will make an effort to secure a membership of 50,000.

Several republicans have been looking enviously toward the governorship since Charley Warner of Waverley filed and Dwight Griswold announced that he was giving the matter consideration.

According to reports reaching the capitol filings in the democratic camp may reach landslide proportions. Fully half a dozen democrats have indicated restlessness and disapproval of the candidacy of Terry-Carpenter.

Justice Harvey M. Johnsen of Omaha has filed for election to the supreme bench on the non-political ticket from the Second district. Justice Johnson was appointed in November, 1938, to succeed the late Judge L. B. Day of Omaha. The terms of Justices Messmore and Carter also expire in 1940, and they are expected to file for re-election.

Regents of the state university are to be selected in 1940 from the Third and Fourth districts, the terms of Regents Marion A. Shaw of David City and C. Y. Thompson of West Point expiring. Several months ago, John G. Moore of Norfolk filed in the Third district. District judges are also up for election in 1940.

Reports reach the state house of activity among aspirants for the legislature and filings are expected.

As the result of the transfer of REA to the Department of Agriculture under Secretary Wallace, a number of changes are expected. Three states, Nebraska, Nevada and Washington have enabling statutes, while in other states the rural electrification movement is handled by cooperatives. Much confusion has resulted in Nebraska because the REA officials were not versed in the provisions of Senate file 310 and its amendments.

An administrator is soon to be appointed to succeed John M. Carmody, who was promoted to head the WPA. It is believed that a regional office will be established at Omaha to handle Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. An engineering staff, a lawyer, and an REA operating official may be assigned to Nebraska, so that all routine can go from the regional office direct to the administrator. County Agents, it is suggested will be asked to do much of the routine connected with operations, this will cut out the high-salaried managers for the districts in Nebraska.

Recent experiments of REA have resulted in cutting costs of connections. A farm home may be joined to the REA distribution line for slightly less than $35, instead of $75 to $85.

Insurance companies in the Missouri Valley are working out a plan to offer young men who have received college training in agriculture special inducements to purchase the farms held by the companies as a result of foreclosure. The tentative plan calls for a small down payment, credit for stocking the place, and operating for the first two years. Amortization extends over a thirty-year period, with provisions for extending the payment in periods of drouth.
