WHY DO FARMERS with telephones GET ALONG BETTER?

Here are some of the ways farmers tell us the telephone helps them:

"Just before the small grain harvest, we surely found out what a trip and time-saver the telephone is," said a farmer. "Threshing was held up several times, but by using the telephone, we found out when neighbors were going to thresh and in this way saved many expensive trips."

"I use the telephone frequently to call friends and relatives. It also makes me feel safer to have a telephone handy."

The telephone helps you find customers, save sick live stock and keep down losses by fire. It keeps your family in close touch with neighbors and friends and helps you get more pleasure out of life.
