RAISING HOGS?

If you are to successfully raise hogs you must expend considerable time and effort in fighting all types of disease and parasites.

Of the various types of disease one of the most fatal to your hog raising profits is Necrotic-Enteritis, commonly known as "Necro."

Of course, in the treatment of "Necro" sanitary measures are of the utmost importance. Good sanitary methods and proper nutrition should aid greatly in avoiding this disease, however, if and when a hog raiser encounters this disease in his herd we recommend that he use MASTER LIQUID HOG MEDICINE to aid in the treatment.

MASTER LIQUID HOG MEDICINE is guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money back and is for sale in this territory by
