"It's my Bread and Butter" "Don't ask me to violate Nebraska laws. I'm a licensed beer retailer, and when customers ask me to 'wink at the law' as a favor to them, they really are asking me to risk my job and the jobs of those who work for me. My license is my bread and butter, and I can't afford to lose it." Patrons sometimes ask retailers to sell beer after closing hours, or sell to persons visibly intoxicated, or to extend credit—all law violations. Most beer licensees respect and obey the law and operate clean, orderly places. They deserve your patronage. Help us in our law enforcement program... don't ask retailers to violate the law. MADE FOR PUNISHMENT! QUESTION "What do you mean, 'RPM' is made for punishment?" ANSWER The blistering temperatures of modern motors are so terrific—that "weak-sister" oils can't "take it." They deposit carbon, sludge and varnish that play mischief with a motor's "insides." "RPM" keeps motors free from these harmful deposits.
