BRIEFLY STATED

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swan, of Alliance, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira George on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Swan is a former pupil of Mr. George's, and is now band instructor at Alliance.

Cecil Lichty of Brunswick was before County Judge Reimer on July 25, charged with being a hit and run driver, when he was involved in a minor accident, and did not stop. He was arrested by Patrolman Harry Brt, led guilty to the charge and was fined $10.00 and costs.

Miss Alice Sexsmith, daughter of Mrs. Lettie Sexsmith of this city, and who is now in Kansas City, where she is taking an art course, entered a soap sculpturing contest sponsored by Proter & Gamble, and won a prize of ten dollars and honorable mention in the Senior Division in which she entered.

September 1st, is your date at St. John's. 11-2

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Springer, of Grand Island, arrived here on Friday to visit at the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rose. They returned to their home on Monday, Mrs. Rose and daughter, Norma, accompanying them for a few days visit in Grand Island.

Guests at the Rev. Ohmart home the past week were: Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bedell and children, Betty and Herbert, and Mrs. M. A. Bedell and Mrs. M. E. Kindricks, all of Lansing, Mich. Mrs. Kindricks and Mrs. Bedell are sisters of Mrs. Ohmart. A brother, Will Buck, and family of Royal, were also guests there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Selah and Dean Selah, of Shenandoah, Iowa, were called here on Monday by the serious illness of Dean Selah's mother. As Mrs. Selah is considerably improved, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Selah left Wednesday afternoon for their home, while Dean will remain for a longer period of time.

The Cherie Club spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Mrs. Melvin Johnson last Thursday. Mrs. Uhl presented, "Is Crime Cheating Our Youth," by N. W. Gains; the balance of the evening was spent at Pinochle. Mrs. E. G. Stewart received high, Mrs. Glen Martin, draw prize, and Mrs. J. E. Donohoe, low.

Corn prospects in the north-eastern part of the county are fair, some of the fields are badly burned while others look nice and green and give promise of some corn. Judging from the number of shocks of small grain standing in the fields that section had a good small grain crop and now if they can get a good corn crop they will be sitting pretty.

J. S. Ennis' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson, of Ter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Utterback of Bargererville, Ind., and Mr. Hiram Harris of Mrogantown, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis from Saturday until Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Ennis had not seen these people for 30 years. They were enroute to Los Angeles to see their son.

Captain Lowery, who used to farm southeast of Bassett, Nebraska, is now head of the eye department of the Army's Walter Reed hospital here in Washington. He tells Nebraskans he would rather live on a ranch in Nebraska.

General John J. Pershing is in pretty good health and comes to Walter Reed hospital frequently for a check-up.

Washington is a regular military camp these days. There are more uniforms visible than ever before, and old timers say that it looks like it did before the last world war.

Although Congress was in recess on account of the Democratic National convention, numerous committees have been active, especially the Appropriations Committee, which will be called upon for more appropriations. Believe it or not, this is the first 20 billion dollar session of Congress in history. Appropriations and spending authorizations approved and pending in the present session total $20,449,000,000, which is almost two billion dollars more than the $18,522,895,000 peak of the war spending in the fiscal year 1919. Members of the Appropriations committee are tremendously worried over some of the demands which may be made for additional spending and while they have given a green light to all of the national defense items, they have started asking for some retrenchment in peace-time bureaucracy items.

About 50,000 persons have been added to the civilian payroll of the federal government in the last three months and for the first time in our history, the federal bureaucracies number more than one million payrooles, which does not include the personnel of the army, navy and relief workers. The peak of employment during the world war was 918 thousand.

Congress has a lot of business to do. The questions of legislation increasing the excess profits tax—the taking of profits out of war—and many other vital and important pieces of legislation are now on the waiting list.

Speaking about probable war, Uncle Sam is short of hospitals for the veterans of the last war. These veterans' hospitals are filled to capacity and Veterans Administration has told some Members of Congress that they need at least one new hospital each year to keep pace with increasing hospitalization requirements. Believe it or not, a stay in an army hospital and close contact with those who are suffering a living death every day, are enough to relieve any mind of the idea that there is any glory in war.

Ray E. Ebener is the post barber at Walter Reed hospital. His wife is a daughter of Sam K. Lanager, a pioneer of the Dodge, Nebraska, community who now lives at Fremont. Ebener bought a house the other day, costing around $9,400. It is a six-room house, completely modern. In answer to some of the people in Washington who want Congress to lower their taxes, Ebener says his taxes on his house will be $106.00 per year. The same house in any town in the Third Congressional District would pay around $150.00 per year in taxes.

ADJOURNMENT PRESSURE

Administration leaders returning from the Chicago convention have started a program to force an adjournment of Congress in a short time. How successful this pressure will be, or what the basis for it may be, is still unknown. It is known however, that the leaders would like to have Congress close up shop and go home. In the face of this pressure, however, letters are coming from people in the Third Congressional district, making it clear that they want Congress to stay on the job so that the people may have something to say about whether or not we are to become involved in an armed conflict on the other side of either the Atlantic or Pacific Oceans. Those favoring Congress remaining on the job say that the nation cannot afford in such an issue of life and death to take the word of anybody that we are not going to become involved in war, not even the assurances embraced in party platforms. They say that people ought to see to it that their representatives—Members of Congress—stay on the job and bend their most earnest efforts toward keeping this nation out of war. Regardless of what our government officials may say, and regardless of what they may intend to do, there is always the grave possibility that other powers may be provoked into a declaration of war on us or an act of war against us. The United States can remain at peace only so long as we do not declare war on any other nation or so long as no other nation declares or wages war on us.

The "stay in session" members say that not only must these foreign questions be considered carefully, but that rising unemployment, the rapidly increasing national debt and an ever-growing taxation of the people must be considered also. Our national defense must be worked out. Our domestic questions cannot be forgotten in the face of these foreign questions. Our rapidly growing national debt must be considered. There is a great inclination apparent to cast aside all consideration of the national debt and growing deficit and simply appropriate the money. However, the appropriation of these vast amounts of money will not give us the machines, the airplanes, the ships, or the guns and the men trained to operate these complex mechanisms. The mere appropriation of money does nothing for national defense except to articulate the willingness of Congress to go along. These billions of dollars of appropriations must be translated by industry into machinery, airplanes and surface and undersea ships. Thousands of hours of arduous training, study and drill and practice must be undergone by the men who are to operate the mechanism of our national defense.

At Auction

SALE TO BE HELD IN SUITABLE LOCATION IN
Inman, Nebr., Monday, August 5
SALE STARTING PROMPTLY AT ONE-THIRTY

Remember: We have but three properties in the Inman neighborhood. They are all to be offered in the one auction to be held at Inman, Monday, August 5, 1940. Be sure to inspect these properties before sale day and arrange terms.

Our banks loaned considerable sums on farms and ranches in Northern Nebraska. They reluctantly acquired a number of properties. Many have been refinanced or repurchased by former owners, others have gone to new purchasers. We now wish to dispose of all our properties in this particular field—hence, this auction sale. For some time we have been taking our farms and ranches county by county and selling them at auction. They have frequently sold low. Surely the sale of the properties described in this bill is a matter of enough importance that farmers, ranchmen, businessmen, investors may profitably spend a few hours at this auction as our guests. We shall appreciate your presence. Consult our men about properties and sale terms.

A FARM FOR HOME OWNER OR INVESTOR—LIVESTOCK FEEDER OR FARMER

N-5014-c FOLEY—320 acres: NW 1/4 26, NE 1/4 27-28-11. 2 miles W of Inman on main highway. This is an especially well improved, well located half section farm, mostly in grass. A desirable home. V. A. Kivett, tenant. This farm has produced extra good yields of corn, rye and garden or truck crops. Some good groves.

N-V-2-f CARY—1280 acres: SE 1/4 19, E 1/4 SW 1/4 30, N 1/4 31-27-10; also W 1/2 25-27-11. 6 miles S of Inman on good road. This small ranch has some of the better hay land of the Inman territory. Fertile soil, well watered and well handled. Some good pasture. Buildings only fair, but good grove. Pearl Cary, tenant.

N-00365-e BETHEA—800 acres: E 1/2 9, SW 1/4 10, NW 1/4 15-25-9; also SE 1/4 SE 1/4 34, W 1/2 SW 1/4, SW 1/4 NW 1/4 35-26-9. 7 miles S and 1 W of Ewing. Extra well improved, highly desirable combination farm and ranch. Some good tillable land, some good hay and fair pasture. C. M. Kirchner, tenant.

Consult our men about terms. M. O. Howard lives in O'Neill. He may be easily reached by telephone.
