STORZ BUYS AK-SAR-BEN GRAND CHAMPION STEER

Prize winning Hereford, raised by Leland Herman, 18, Wayne County, Nebr.—Bid by Robert H. Storz.

Storz Brewing Company, Omaha, following its long-established policy of encouraging better farming in the mid-west by buying Ak-Sar-Ben champion baby beef, this year bought the Grand Champion at the 4-H auction Friday morning at the Omaha show. In previous years, Storz has bid successfully on Reserve Grand Champions. The price paid was $1.00 per pound, bid by Mr. Robert H. Storz, which was considerably above the $2 1/2¢ paid for the champion at the state fair in September.

The Grand Champion was the 880-pound Hereford calf, Max, exhibited by Leland Herman, 18, Wayne county, Nebraska. It first won top honors at the Wayne county fair, then scooped the Hereford division at the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show, and went on to win the Grand Championship. The calf, a gift from Max Wolf, Albion, Nebraska, came originally from the T. O. ranch at Ratton, N. M. It was raised on a practical feeding schedule.

WHICH COSTS MORE?

The third of the cigarette you throw away?

The light from your bridge lamp?

ANSWER: Next time you stamp out a cigarette, remember this—the current to light a 100-watt bulb in your bridge lamp while you play a rubber of bridge, costs no more than the stub you're throwing away! GOOD LIGHT IS CHEAP! Use it freely for better sight!
