ROOSEVELT WINS THE THIRD TERM Nebraska Joins Other Agricultural States In Opposition

Endorses Willkie And Elects The Entire Republican Ticket

Hugh Butler Elected To U. S. Senate With A Majority Of 90,000 Or Better

Governor-Elect Dwight Griswold Leads Ticket With A Majority of 120,000 Votes

At the election last Tuesday President Roosevelt was elected for a third term, thus breaking precedent in the U. S. A. The agricultural middle west did not join the labor organizations of the industrial east and they opposed reelection and cast their votes for Wendell Willkie. These states comprised the following: Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Maine, Vermont, North Dakota and South Dakota, nine states in all. Willkie, although defeated, received about five million more votes in the United States than any candidate who was ever defeated for the office. In the popular vote Roosevelt led him about four and a half million, but a large share of them came from the democrati south, where they vote like they drink, straight.

After several years of following the New Deal fallacies the voters of Nebraska returned to their first love at the election last Tuesday and by an avalanche of ballots swept the New Dealers out of office and the republicans in. In the state all of the counties except eight gave majorities for the republican ticket. The eight that still clung with the New Deal were: Butler, Dakota, Douglas, Howard, Saline, Sarpy, Thurston and Sherman, leaving eighty-five counties for the republican candidates. Wendell Willkie carried the state with a majority of 85,000, while four years ago Roosevelt carried the state with approximately 100,000 majority and a much heavier vote eight years ago. In this reversal of form Holt county joined the throng and gave a majority for the republican candidate of 1831, without the mail vote of 117, which will undoubtedly add to this majority. In 1932 this county gave Roosevelt a majority of 2386. In the fall of 1936 the voters of this county were getting a little tired of the New Deal and the Roosevelt majority slumped that fall to 188, or a loss of 2198 votes in four years, which conclusively proves that the farmers are not in favor of the New Deal farm policy.

Hugh Butler, of Omaha, republican candidate for United States Senator was an easy victor over Governor Cochran. Many were of the opinion that Cochran could not be defeated but, although he carried Douglas county with a substantial majority, the rest of the state came to Butler's rescue and he won with a majority of over 90,000 votes, running ahead of the head of the ticket. Butler is an alert and active business man and has been engaged in farming and stock-raising for many years and he will prove a valuable asset to the people of Nebraska in the United States senate. He is not a New Dealer nor a "yes man".

Dwight Griswold's fourth attempt for the governorship was successful and he buried Terry Carpenter under such an avalanche of votes that Terry will have some time emerging therefrom. His majority in the state is over 120,000, which we think, is the biggest majority ever given a candidate for governor in the state.

The balance of the republican state ticket is safely republican with large majorities, except secretary of state, and the vote on that office is rather close, although the republican is leading.

In Holt county there were many surprises, for both parties, bitter disappointment to the democratic New Dealers and pleasant ones for the members of the republican party. Republicans were confident that Willkie would carry the county but they did not look for anywhere near the vote that was cast for him in the county, 4804, to 2973 for Roosevelt, or a republican majority of 1831, with 125 mail votes to count. This naturally will cause rejoicing among republicans of the county for it is the first time since the election of 1928 that the republicans carried this county for all the candidates on the ticket, and by majorities never before heard of in this county. In the election of 1930 the republicans carried the county for nearly all candidates on the state ticket, but lost the count to C. W. Bryan, who won out Governor Weaver for leadership in the county.

Dwight Griswold, republican candidate for governor and the next-governor of Nebraska, was the leader of the party on the state ticket. He carried the county with a vote of 4890 to 2641 for Terrible Terry Carpenter, or a majority of 2241. All the rest of the republican candidates carried the county, the vote of each candidate can be found at the end of this article, with the respective majorities.

The real leader of the ticket in the county, as he was expected to be, was Congressman Karl Stefan. He polled 5819 votes in the county to 1185 for his democratic opponent, Victor McGonigle, or a plurality for Stefan of 4634 over both candidates. Paul Burke, petition candidate, received 241 votes in the county and Congressman Stefan had a majority over both candidates of 4,373 votes. His majority in the county two years ago over former congressman Edgar Howard was 3,499, so he increased his majority in the two years 874, which clearly proves that Karl is increasing his hold on the people of this county.

On the Non-political ticket Judge Carter, member of the supreme court from this district and candidate for re-election without opposition, received 4975 votes, while Judge Dickson, a candidate unopposed for district judge from this district, received 5769 votes.

One of the real scraps on this non-political ticket was that for member of the legislature from this district. The candidates were Senator F. J. Brady, of Atkinson, who served in the unicameral two terms, after serving one term as state senator in the old bicameral. During the past two sessions of the legislature Mr. Brady has taken a very important part in the deliberations of the legislature, having been chairman of the finance committee, the most powerful and important committee in the legislature during his two terms of service. Mr. Brady's health has not been very good the past year and a half and he was prevented on that account from making an active campaign. The vote in this county was 3320 for Brady and 3937 for Asimus, or a majority for the latter of 617 in the county, exclusive of the mail vote. We understand that the complete vote of the district is: Brady 6075, Asimus 6317, or a majority in the district of 242.

The race for county judge was not close enough to be interesting.

O'Neill And Grattan In The Republican Column

Among the surprises in the last campaign was that given by the voters of O'Neill and Grattan township. For many, many years this city and township surrounding it, have been bulwarks of the democratic party and many of their successful candidates in this county owed their election to the heavy vote given them in this city. This was all changed last Tuesday and the city voted republican with a majority of 79 votes and the township gave a republican majority of 42 votes, or a republican majority in the city and township of 121. The vote in the township and the three wards was as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.
Grattan	166	124
O'Neill, First Ward	219	218
O'Neill, Second Ward	163	184
O'Neill, Third Ward	287	188
Total	835	714

Atkinson was unusually strongly republican at the election last Tuesday. The republican ticket carried all the wards in the city, including the strong democratic Third ward, which went republican with a majority of fourteen votes. The total vote in Atkinson and Atkinson precinct was 375 for Roosevelt and 560 for Willkie. O'Neill, Atkinson and Chambers gave Willkie more than half of the majority he received in this county.

As in the primary race, Judge Reimer showed surprising strength and polled a vote of 4942 as against 2302 for Henry Grady, or a majority of 2640.

In the race for county assessor, Walter G. Sire, a novice in politics, ran ahead of his democratic opponent, an old political war horse, T. J. Coyne, polling 3824 votes to 3156 cast for Mr. Coyne, a majority of 668. As in the primary race Tom ran ahead of the head of his ticket, but the republican tidal wave was on and it would not be denied, at least not in Nebraska.

Supervisor Contests

In the race for supervisors in the three districts, which elected this fall, there was a close race in but one district, the second. In this district W. E. Wulf, who was appointed by the county board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of L. W. Reimer when he was appointed county judge, was the democratic candidate, and Eben Grafft, of Ewing was the republican candidate. Luke Rakow, of Verdigris, filed as a petition candidate and made a remarkable race. When the votes were finally counted W. E. Wulf had 395, Eben Grafft 389 and Luke Rakow 390, so that but six votes are between the highest and lowest candidate. There are seventeen mail votes to count in this district and they will decide the winner in this contest. They will start the count Friday morning.

In the Fourth district Supervisor Carson, who has held the position for the past eight years, was a candidate for re-election and he was opposed by Joe Schollmeyer, democrat, who was the democratic candidate. Schollmeyer was a supervisor from that district many years ago and he made a come back and won handily, receiving 525 votes to 286 cast for Carson, or a majority of 239, without the mail votes.

In the Sixth district Walter K. Smith, former chairman and present member of the board, was a candidate for re-election and he was opposed by A. M. Batenhorst, democrat. It looked like a close race for a while but Smith retained his seat on the board, with a vote of 553 to 445, without the mail vote, a majority of 108.

The total vote cast last Tuesday was 7777, without the mail vote, which is less than the 7965 cast at the general election in 1936.

Asimus Wins Senatorship

Following is the vote of the four counties of the Twenty-eighth senatorial district for state senator. This is a complete unofficial vote, without mail vote, but there is not enough of them to change the result, unless they are all cast for one candidate and that hardly seems probable.

	Brady	Asimus
Holt	3320	3927
Boyd	1148	1376
Keya Paha	786	441
Rock	821	573

St. Mary's Six-Man Team Wins An Easy Victory

St. Mary's, overwhelming Stuart in 26 minutes of play, won an easy victory by scoring 47 points while again holding their opponents scoreless.

After the game had barely gotten underway Ryan took the ball on the Stuart 30 and ran it across starting the scoring for St. Mary's. Ryan then kicked the extra point, making the score 8-0. After taking the ball away from Stuart on a fumble St. Mary's again scored with Hickey plunging from about the five yard line. St. Mary's took the ball on downs and Bill Ryan running through the entire Stuart team scored from the 25, making the score 23-0 after Shoemaker ran the extra point over. St. Mary's again kicked off to Stuart but again they were helpless and lost the ball to St. Mary's on their own 30. Hammond then ran it over from the 30 to end the scoring of the first half at 29-0.

Only six minutes were played in the third quarter, but this was long enough for St. Mary's to score three touchdowns, an average of one every two minutes. Kleinschmitt took a pass from Ryan for the first one. Hickey again plunged for the second fumble on their own 25-yard line, ran it across to end the game 47-0, for this game was played on a sudden death basis, that is, if one team is ahead of the other team by 45 points the game is automatically over.

St. Mary's having won six successive games and scoring 231 points to their opponents 12 have become the biggest threat in six-man football in this part of the State.

St. Mary's will meet the Long Pine outfit on Armistice day at the city park.

From Iowa she came to Thurston county, Nebraska, then to Atkinson and to O'Neill in 1916 where her home has since been until her death Friday evening, November 1, after a short illness, aged 63 years, 6 months and 14 days.

She was united in marriage to Joseph Sherman Ennis in Manona county, Iowa, April 30, 1893. Their children are Emery H., Mrs. Billie L. Maxwell, Mrs. Marguerite D. Bayse, and Elmer F. of San Diego, California and Mrs. Loraine R. Smith of Chambers, Nebr.; also two brothers, Lorenzo Eveland of Nashville, Tenn.; James Eveland of Sand Point, Idaho; and one sister, Mrs. Charles Hiserote, of South Sioux City, Nebraska; five grandchildren and her mother, Lucinda Elizabeth Eveland.

She became a member of the Methodist church at the age of fourteen and remained faithful to her vows until death; she also was a member of the O'Neill Rebekah Lodge, has been a member of the O'Neill Methodist choir for twenty-two years and an officer and teacher in the Sunday school. She has been a faithful and loyal wife, mother and servant of her Lord and Saviour. She will be missed in the many places of service that occupied her life.

The Weather

O'Neill received the first taste of winter last Monday evening when a few flurries of snow fell around seven o'clock after a day in which a very light mist fell most of the time. Tuesday, which was election day, was cold and chilly but no moisture was received in this part of the country, and the chilly weather did not keep the voters away from the polls.

Following is the weather chart for the past week:

	High	Low
October 31	61	41
November 1	64	35
November 2	61	32
November 3	75	40
November 4	60	35
November 5	37	32

Misses Beulah Rogers, Bernadetta Penney and Darlene Grassdrove to Norfolk Friday and visited friends.

O'Neill High Loses To Bloomfield High

O'Neill High held the undefeated Bloomfield team scoreless in the first half of the game here last Friday but weakened in the second half and lost 21-0. The turning point in the game came with one minute left in the third quarter when Bloomfield recovered an O'Neill fumble on the O'Neill 30-yard line. In nine plays they scored and converted on the extra point. The second touchdown came after O'Neill had kept the visitors behind their 40 yard line for most of the fourth period. Wilson, Bloomfield halfback, broke loose for a 78-yard run before he was forced out of bounds inside the O'Neill one-yard line. He scored on the next play. With only a few minutes left to play Bloomfield intercepted a pass on the 50 yard line and on the next play threw a forward that gained to the O'Neill one-yard line. Bloomfield smashed over for the goal and kicked the extra point.

The next game on O'Neill's schedule is at Neligh on Monday, Armistice Day, and the next home game is on Friday, November 15, when Ainsworth plays here. Neligh boasts a win over Norfolk High this year, while Ainsworth until last Friday's game at Atkinson was undefeated.
