

SCHOOL OPENING MONDAY AT EWING

2 New Courses Added—
Social Problems and Industrial Arts

EWING—The Ewing public school is scheduled to begin its fall term Monday, August 30. Supt. A. S. Evans announced recently that a full teaching staff has been secured and that an extra large group of high school students from rural areas is expected to enroll.

New members of the teaching staff are: Genevieve Vandersnick, who will teach the seventh and eighth grades, and Oscar Smith, who will coach athletics and teach industrial arts. Miss Vandersnick is a resident of the Ewing area, while Mr. Smith comes from Peru, where recently he completed his college work.

It is known that two teachers have been attending the University of Nebraska this summer. Mrs. Wilda Carr, home economics instructor, was working on her bachelor of arts degree. Mr. Evans completed his resident work for his master's degree in education.

Mr. Evans reports that he plans to introduce 2 new courses this year—a social problems course and an industrial arts course for seniors.

Cgach Smith has called the opening football practice session, which was held Wednesday, August 25. He has 7 lettermen and an adequate squad of reserves with which to work. Lettermen are: Pat Sanders, Jack Pruden, Cappy Dierks, Fred Bollwitt, Skippy Marquardt, Harold Bennett and Robert Montgomery.

The team's opening game is with Neligh September 17.

DESERT SYMBOLISM, NOT A PIPE DREAM

Seasoned old travelers say that things start to look queer out in the desert if you stay long enough, but few things could look more strange than this photograph which makes a string of camels appear as though they are plodding along the top of a pipeline. However, it's just a matter of perspective. Also, it is slightly symbolic—the old camel caravan being replaced by modern technology and stuff like that. The big tube is the 30-inch pipeline now under construction in the desert wasteland of Saudi Arabia. When completed it will carry between 300 and 450 thousand barrels of oil daily from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean.

Ewing Minister Tours Mid-Eastern States; Impressed with $1 Per Carload Drive-Ins

EWING—Rev. C. Donald Vogel and family, of Ewing, returned recently from a trip East which took them through 6 states and return. They spent most of that time attending a conference of young people and missionaries at Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa.

Mr. Vogel reports that crops from Nebraska to Pennsylvania "are the best in years," in spite of occasional hail storms, and that business is booming in spite of high prices.

He states that in Pittsburgh, Pa., milk is 23 to 25c a quart; butter is 80 to 90c per pound; eggs are 65 to 75c per dozen; hamburger is 75c per pound; beef roast 75c per pound; pork chops 60 to 75c per pound; cigarettes 23 to 25c per pack. Chewing gum is still 5c per package, however!

To make matters worse, Pennsylvania has a soft beverage tax which adds a penny to every bottle of pop or fountain drink. Generally, however, he noticed that canned goods were slightly less expensive than in Nebraska and the selection of clothing was more varied and slightly lower in price.

Rents, however, are terrific compared to those in Nebraska. A modest apartment demands the unmodest rental of $75 per month. It is not unusual for working people to have to pay $100 a month for rental on a house.

One new feature which is springing up all over the mid-eastern states is the drive-in theater. Since his last visit East, Mr. Vogel reports a mushroom growth of this modern way of going to the movies.

Prices are about the same as movies in Nebraska. One sign advertised "a carload for $1." High schoolers befuddle the drive-in managers with a dozen customers in one jalopy which, of course, brings the price per head down considerably. Reverend Vogel added.
