TAKING OFF THE WRAPS . . . Since the end of the war there have been many pictures showing how military and naval planes were being given protective coverings to preserve them while in storage. Now the process is reversed. What with crisis and an expanding defense program, planes now are unpickled. Here, at Litchfield, Ariz., naval air facility storage depot, a big plane depreserving program is under way.

Bradley's Inspection of Far East Might Indicate New Russian Influence Area

By DREW PEARSON

Dress Rehearsal for War
 Eight miles out of Frankfurt, Germany, at the Rhine-Main airport, is a place the GIs call "Boom Town." It is called that because a new town has sprung up overnight, with the carpenters' hammers still making as much noise as the airplane motors—all because of the Berlin airlift.

Bradley's Inspection Tour
 Best indication that the western powers don't anticipate early hostilities in Europe despite the tense state of the Moscow talks is that army chief of staff, Gen. Omar Bradley, plans an extended vacation trip.

General Bradley is combining vacation with business on a one-month tour of American outposts in the Far East. Although nobody will confirm it, it's considered likely Bradley will take to Japan another invitation from President Truman to MacArthur, asking the Allied Far Eastern commander to come home and receive a hero's welcome. MacArthur has indicated that if he returns home from Japan it will not be until after the November election.

Note: U. S. diplomats predict Russia's next zone of intensive operations will be the Far East—the area Bradley is visiting.

Seek Small Town Vote
 Democratic congressmen Melvin Price, of Illinois, and Frank M. Karsten, of Missouri, got a lecture from President Truman on the importance of the small town vote.

Calling at the White House, Price and Karsten assured the President of their support next November. Whereupon Mr. Truman gave them a homely discourse on the coming campaign.

"I'm not worried about the election," he said. "We're going to win, that's sure. I know that's sure because we're right and they're wrong."
 "I'm going to make it a rip-snorting, back-platform campaign to what Taft calls all the 'whistle stops,'" Taft continued. "Taft calls them whistle stops, but I call them the heart of America. When they count the whistle-stop votes, Taft may be in for a big surprise. I think the whistle-stops will make the difference between victory and defeat."
 Mr. Truman also expressed confidence that he would carry much of the farm vote. He said that Republican opposition to the world wheat agreement would play into the Democratic hands.
 "We have our biggest wheat crop in history," he said. "The Russians have their biggest bumper wheat crop in history. The farmers know that if there isn't some agreement to protect them, I am going to explain this to the farmers in the campaign."
Condemn Housing Frauds
 An all-out crackdown on housing frauds against veterans was ordered by Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and Housing Expediter Tighe Woods at a conference of U. S. district attorneys from 21 key cities.
 "I want you to put these housing frauds at the top of the list when it comes to prosecutions," ordered the attorney general.
 Equally vigorous was Woods, who has expanded his investigating force from 15 to 300 men. He told the district attorneys in their closed-door session that while he would leave the legal justification up to them, he wanted to emphasize the government's moral obligation to do something about housing violations.
