Ag Secretary Warns Government May Have to Buy 500 Million Bushels Grain

By DREW PEARSON

Predicts Grain Surplus

Forthright Secretary of Agri-culture Charlie Brannan warned a closed-door senate session recently that the government may have to buy up 800 million bushels of grain this coming year.

Reporting to a private session of the senate agriculture committee, Brannan explained that Thomas has changed his tune, farmers are overplanting grain now favors government purand cotton, that prices may go chase of warehouses and grain into a tailspin. In this case the elevators, is that his speculating government will have to take friends, Dyke Cullum, has been the crops off the farmers' hands. urging this course of action. The money to do this, Brannan cautioned, is limited.

"Next year," he declared, "it is entirely possible we will have all of our working funds committed.'

Through the secretary of agriculture could use more funds to protect support prices, it isn't likely that congress will add to the four and three quarter million dollars now available. This means the government probably will be forced to lower support prices.

Sen. Milton Young, North Dakota Republican, a s k e d bakota Republican, a s k e u whether Brannan favored sup-port prices kept as high as 100 per cent of parity, such as de-manded by the Farmers Union. "It is desirable," replied the secretary of agriculture, "but looking at the other aspects of

Winning the Snow Battle Was a Huge Undertaking

This winter will long be remembered for its Big Snow. Thousands of towns, farms and ranches were isolated. Drifts were so deep and firm that normal snow-removal methods were futile.

The battle was won when methods, used successfully in one location, were applied to other communities. Similarly, the U.S. Brewers Foundation aids tavern owners by informing them of methods used successfully elsewhere.

A continuing educational program keeps all tavern owners informed of these better procedures and practices.

As a result, Nebraska beer retailers are good citizens and good business-men. It is their desire to hold high the best standards of the industry. It is their aim to support all laws and the rules of good conduct necessary to keep the sale of beer on a high plane.
