The Washington-Merry-Go-Round —
Sen. Magnuson to Do Some Tough Talking to Awaken Congress to Plight of Marine

By DREW PEARSON

Bloom Overworked — One thing that contributes to the death of much-loved Congressman Sol Bloom was overwork. And his work load was increased by the fact that many Democratic members of the house foreign affairs committee brazenly loafed on the job, leaving most of the work to Sol and the Republicans.

While the 11 Republican members of the committee usually are present, sometimes as few as three Democrats have turned up. This once caused conscientious Congressman John Kee of West Virginia to remark, "Maybe what we need is a police force to get our colleagues to attend meetings."

So far statesmanlike Congressman Charles Eaton of New Jersey, leader of the Republicans, hasn't taken advantage of this. But he could easily turn the tables on the Democrats and put the Republicans in the position of running American foreign policy.

As a result the first act of new Democratic Chairman John Kee, when he took over following Sol Bloom's death, was to warn Democratic congressmen it was time for them to quit playing hooky.

Note—Sometimes it has even been necessary to telegraph Democratic Joseph L. Pfeifer of Brooklyn at his home to insure attendance for committee votes.

Servant of Brotherhood — When Forrest Warren, now on the San Diego Journal, was a reporter on the Atchison (Kas.) Globe, he lost his wife under the wheels of a train. Perhaps that tragedy had something to do with causing Warren to spend too much of his time since then listening to the sorrows of others and doing something about them.

At any rate, Warren has become a tireless worker for his fellow men. He has organized a revolving wheel-chair service in which there are more than 600 wheel chairs and many walkers for polio victims. He originated the San Diego shoe fund, collecting $40,000 and more than 100,000 pair of shoes that were repaired and given to needy children.

At Christmas time Warren conducts a Santa-helper program by which 4,000 men, women and children are cheered with holiday presents. He has collected money to buy books projected on the ceiling via films so that flat-on-the-back patients may read pages on the ceiling above their beds.

Warren, now 71 years old does all this in addition to his regular work on the San Diego Journal. He is a real servant of brotherhood.

Plumps for Pecan — No newspaper in the U. S. A. has fought Harry Truman more vitriolically, vehemently and vigorously than the Chicago Tribune. These attacks have also been centered on Truman's military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Nevertheless, Tribune publisher Colonel McCormick now has found something in common with Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan. He is an admirer of dictatorial Peron of Argentina.

Col. McCormick has been traveling through Latin America spending an average of 30 hours in each of four capitals—but spent more time in Buenos Aires where President Peron pinned a medal on his breast—the same kind of metal given to General Vaughan.

After lunching with Peron McCormick informed the press that he and the dictator were in complete accord on Western hemisphere affairs.

Another interesting fact was McCormick's rabid attitude toward Europe which became so violently manifest that even his own interpreter toned down his remarks.

Drooping Merchant Marine — Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson has informed Presidential Assistant John Steelman that he will do some tough talking on the senate floor if the White House doesn't wake up to the plight of our merchant marine.

It's time we realize that the American flag is going off the seas, declared Magnuson. Our private commercial shippers have fewer vessels in service than the approximate 360-vessel seagoing fleet of the army. Furthermore, 95 per cent of our relief shipments to Denmark and 60 per cent of our shipments to England are being carried in foreign bottoms.

As a result, declared Magnuson, about 48,000 U. S. merchant seamen have been beached in the last seven months.
