

Booklets Available from Sen. Butler

Nebraska's Sen. Hugh Butler has announced that a limited number of soil survey studies and maps of Holt county are available from his office, Senate building, Washington, D. C.

The surveys are in the form of a small booklet containing a complete detailed map of the county and which classifies the types of soil and the farming capacity for each.

The booklets are free by writing Sen. Butler.

AT THE END OF THE DAY

How nice it is to relax at home after a hard day's work . . . just open up the evening paper . . . or turn on the radio . . . with Mom not reminding you of yard or garden work to be done. You're proud of your family . . . proud to be a part of your community.

Your tavern keeper is no different. He may have more difficult problems than many businessmen—he may get home later—but he gets the same enjoyment from his home life . . . he takes the same pride in being a part of the community.

He is worth knowing better.

HOLT COUNTY EDUCATIONAL NOTES

By Elja McCullough
County Superintendent

The state teachers' examination date is Saturday, July 16. This is the last time they will be given because a new certification law goes into effect August 27, 1949. These examinations will be given in the public high school assembly room in O'Neill, beginning at 8 a. m.

All high school pupils, who are residents of rural districts or districts which do not provide high school facilities, are eligible for free high school tuition.

It is the responsibility of parents or guardians to make application for this tuition by July 1 each year to the county superintendent of the county in which they reside. By law, the county superintendent must have these applications on file in order to request the required levy to be made by the county board of supervisors. Form cards for such application are sent to superintendents of each public high school for distribution to rural pupils in the Spring.

This distribution is done for the convenience of pupils and their parents but many times applications are neglected until later in the year and sometimes cannot be allowed because the money is not available for them. Consequently it is wise to be on time.

2d Degree Administered — INMAN — Seventeen members of the Chambers IOOF lodge were guests of the Inman lodge at the hall on Tuesday evening, June 14. The second degree was exemplified by the Chambers lodge. Lunch was served.
