Mr. Schacht reported that laying out the line and other preliminary engineering work could get under way within two weeks after the contract was approved. He also reported that sufficient materials can be obtained promptly.

The new 115,000-volt line will be constructed with double-pole structures and suspension type conductors which will withstand the severest storms and the line will be shielded for protection against lightning damage, which has been a major hazard to transmission lines in this area.

The new line will transmit additional power from the main network of the Nebraska Public Power system into the Western portion of the O'Neill-Valentine network to provide a more dependable feeder into the area.

The board also approved an expenditure of $6,936 for a pole inspection and rehabilitation of 37 miles of transmission line in the Bassett-Atkinson area. Mr. Schacht said this includes the tightening and repairing of all pole structures on the line and making any general repairs necessary due to the poundings of the severe snow storm experienced during the recent months.

This permanent line improvement was decided upon after the idea to move the O'Neill deisel powered generator to Valentine was abandoned.

Miss Joan Millstead, of Denver, Colo., was a June 18-19 weekend guest of Miss Ilene Klopper.
