THIS JOB IS NEVER FINISHED

Throughout Nebraska, the men who supply you electric service are busily building new electric lines, installing new transformers, adding power generators, running extensions to bring electricity to more people and, in general, improving and expanding electric facilities to provide even greater electrical advantages for Nebraska communities and farms.

It is a never ending job—one which reflects the forward march of a progressive people who are constantly making greater use of efficient low cost electricity.

Nebraskans served by Consumers Public Power District have increased their use of electricity nearly two and one half times in the ten years Consumers has been in operation.

To keep pace with this greatly increased use and provide even greater electrical benefits, Consumers Public Power District has made improvements to facilities totaling in excess of $13,624,413 and has well underway an improvement program which will cost in the neighborhood of twenty million dollars. Truly, this is progress — progress in building Nebraska—and in bringing better living to Nebraskans.
