Means So Much, Yet Costs So Little

SO MUCH to know that you have left nothing undone during the critical learning years, the pictures and words on the blackboard will be sharp and vivid to their searching young eyes. . . that the magic and pictures of books and films will enrich their minds, help shape their character, develop wisdom and personality, YES so much and yet, SO LITTLE to pay to preserve and protect the priceless, once-given gift of GOOD VISION by an Optometrist or Ophthalmologist who have spent years of specialized training to give them the best of eye care. SO MUCH INDEED for so little. The per capita cost of eye-care in US averages little more than a penny a day.
