YESTERDAY AND TOMORROW
 A Story of Transportation
$15 A DAY REVENUE!
--Rail Officials Were Gleeful
 Ninety-seven years ago, when Chicago's first locomotive, the Old Pioneer, chugged westward to the banks of the Des Plaines river, a hint of the Railroad-to-come was indicated on that initial run.
 The significant thing was not the group of Who's Who making the first trip—it was a load of wheat. Some one had "sold" the railroad on hauling the grain on the return journey. It was a great idea—within a week 30 loads of wheat were waiting at the Des Plaines river to be hauled into Chicago!
 Rail officials were gleeful. With sharpened pencils they figured that this freight revenue might run as high as $15 a day!

 Arch enemy of open telephone wires is ICE. Freezing rain or sleet, building layer upon layer of ice weight, can break the wires and turn them into a tangle of lifeless metal. Each winter takes its heavy toll of broken lines, splintered poles and "out of service" telephones.
 Combining telephone wires in a single protective cable covering makes a stronger strand . . . presents less total ice carrying surface. Only weather in its most violent moods is likely to damage a cable of this kind.
 Why not all telephone wire in cable? That's a good question and there is also a good answer—cost. But it would mean more dependable service . . . and that's a goal toward which we are constantly working.

In years ahead, the replacement of many open wire lines with cable is one of the jobs on the list of things we are going to do. That list is a mighty big one, headed right now with the tremendous task of adding facilities to provide service for thousands who have been unable to obtain it because factories were turning out war materials. This job, too, calls for millions of new dollars . . . money that must come from investors with faith in the credit and earning ability of the business.
 For these and scores of other plans slated for peacetime doing we have the guidance of this long term policy—to provide the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business.
