Now... no wheat used in beer or ale

And wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the world's hungry

Actually wheat has never been a large item in the brewing process—only $\frac{8}{10,000}$ of the entire U. S. wheat crop was used in 1945.

In accordance with United States Government policy, the brewing industry has used no wheat whatever since March 1, 1946.

OTHER MATERIALS CUT 30%

The other grains used have been reduced by 30%—that is, to 70% of the 1945 amount.

Wheat alone can solve the problem of feeding the hungry. The grains to which the industry is now restricted, are of a variety and grade not normally consumed by the people of the world as food.

LESS BEER AND ALE

Altogether, the brewing industry is using 30% less materials than in 1945. This results in a proportionately lower production. But since the current demand for beer and ale is about 25% greater than a year ago, the real shortage is nearer 50%.

Consequently, your dealer will not be able to supply you with all the beer and ale you would like. We know you will understand the reason for this.

Your attention is earnestly directed to the recommendations of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee, which are summarized in the box below.

This statement tells in clear, simple terms what each of us individually can do to help during the emergency.

What the President's Famine Emergency Committee asks us all to do

1. Save and share wheat and fat products . . . Go light on all foods that take wheat, fats and oils—save breads, macaroni, cakes, cookies, pastries and deep-fried foods. Use drippings for pan-frying. Save salad oil—use boiled dressings.
2. Buy and serve more plentiful foods . . . Balance diets with the more plentiful foods, such as potatoes, fresh fruits and vegetables.
3. Waste NO food . . . Dress up today's leftovers for tomorrow. Make every crustings take no more than you can eat. Clean your plate. Turn in unusable fat salvage promptly.

UNITED STATES BREWERS FOUNDATION

10 1/2 million bundles from heaven

The United States birth rate nearly doubled during the war—10,569,000 babies started life between January 1, 1942 and July 1, 1945. And the 1940-50 decade, it is estimated, will net (over deaths) 13 million brand new individuals to reckon with.

And reckon with them your telephone company will. As they become a part of the adult population, we are concerned with such questions as—How many of them ultimately will live in Metropolis? How many in Suburbia? Will they be farmers, work in factories or offices, start businesses of their own?

We calculate these things as best we can and try to have telephone facilities ready when and where needed. To resume normal expansion, halted by the war, and to plan soundly for future needs, call for an expenditure of 100 million dollars during the next few years in the five states we serve.

This money must come, not from "war profits" because the telephone company made none—but from individual investors with faith in the future earnings and stability of the business.
