SCHOOLS SET FOR FALL OPENING

Redecorated Classrooms, Dormitories to Greet St. Mary's Pupils

REGISTRATIONS S E T

O'Neill's two school systems-the public school and St. Mary's academy-are set for the Fall term opening next week, officials have announced as the summer vacation nears its close.

Supt. Ira George has announced that the normal training vacancy in the public school teaching staff has been filled. Mrs. Nora Davis has been signed for the post.

The 22-teacher faculty was announced in last week's issue of The Frontier. All grade students will register at 9 a.m. Monday in their respective rooms, and all high school students will register in the large study hall on the second floor of the main school building.

At St. Mary's academy, the Sisters of St. Francis are beginning their 46th year of teaching here, when the Fall term opens Tuesday.

The academy pupils will be greeted this year by completely redecorated classrooms, corridors and dormitories. Workmen have been busy most of the summer in renovating the interior. In addi-tion, an infirmary has been added for the boarding pupils. It is equipped with the latest and best equipment.

Registration at the academy will begin tomorrow (Friday) when the freshmen and sophomores will sign for the new term. Juniors sign for the new term. Juniors and seniors will be registered Sat-urday, and boarding pupils will register on Sunday and Monday. Three new teachers have been added to the faculty. They are Sister Emila, the freshman spon-sor; Sister Casilda, sixth and sev-enth grades; and Sister Frindi-

POLIO VICTIM

Donald Lindquist, 12, (above) son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Lindquist, of O'Neill, is Holt county's lone confirmed case of infantile paralysis. He is recovering in St. Joseph's hospital at Omaha. His par-ents, who visited him during the weekend, report that the youth's right arm is partially paralyzed. State department of health officials say that the epidemic in Nebraska has "levelled off." PAGE-E. Roy Townsend, 70, a well-known bridge-builder and a member of a prominent pioneer Page family, died at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday at his home here. Death followed a four-week's illness.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 2 p.m. in the Methodist church in Page with Rev. Lloyd W. Mullis, of O'Neill, officiating. The AF&AM lodge will be in charge.

Born at Newton, Wis., in 1876, a son of the late Waldron C. Town-send and Mrs. Ida Townsend, he came to Holt county with his parents in 1876, settling near Page.

On Christmas day in 1900 he was married to Miss Dora C. Hunt in a ceremony that took place at Page. They became the parents of one son and one daughter.

Survivors include the widow; daughter, Mrs. Velna Weir, of Fullerton; a son, Donald H. Townsend, of Wainright, Alberta, Canada; his 90-year-old mother, Mrs. Ida Townsend; two brothers, Clinton A. Townsend, of Page, and William, of Osage, Wyo.; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Swain, of Rapid City, S. D., and Mrs. Bernice Ware, of Han-ford, Calif.; and six grandchildren.

Mr. Townsend was active in the AF&AM, IOOF and WOW lodges. The son, Donald, who was called Page from Canada because of his father's illness, departed for Alberta several hours before his father's death.

World War I Vets

Former members of the 137th Aero squadron of World War I held their second reunion over the weekend in Ft Wayne, Ind. Julius D. Cronin, O'Neill attorney, a member of the unit, departed Friday to attend the event.

Organized in Kelly Field Tex., in 1917, the 137th squadron served in both England and France during 1917-'18. Thirtyfive former members from 20 Mr. Cronin returned to O'-Neill late Wednesday.

With the opening of the schools at hand, Mr. George has announced that the beginners' band class will be offered at both St. Mary's academy and the O'Neill public school, commencing September 9. All parents interested in having their children enroll in this class may meet at the public school in the band room on September 3 at 7:30 p.m., Mr. George said.

A sample of genuine Fall weather was handed out this week by the weatherman as the mercury Reunite in Indiana dipped to 40-degrees early today (Thursday.) The lowest temperature in the midwest was report-ed 24-hours earlier at Aberdeen, S. D, where the low mark was 35.

The new front age will measure 671/2 feet and have three entrances into the two separate buildings. The space will be divided between a complete home furnishing store and his Ben Franklin store, which will become exclusively a variety store.

"We hope to get underway on the new building during Sep-tember," Mr. Bowen said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, announcement was recently made by Hested Stores that a new store building would be built here soon "in the heart of the business district." The Hested project will have a 44foot frontage.

Not yet launched but con-templated for the near future are the plans of the Krotter Lumber company to build a com-plete yard in the west end of the city. John Krotter said Wednesday that only material shortages were holding up their plans. He said that their plant would cover nearly a square block, and the main unit would measure approximately 50x120 feet.

The Krotter company already owns and operates yards at Stuart, Spencer, Naper in Nebraska and St. Charles and Herrick in South Dakota.
