Florence Winkler, Leo Weichman Wed at Emmet Wednesday

EMMET—In wedding rites solemnized at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the Church of Epiphany here, Miss Florence Winkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winkler, of Emmet, became the bride of Leo Weichman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weichman, of Stuart. The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. John O'Brien, Church of Epiphany pastor.

The bride appeared in a gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves, a fitted bodice, and a full-skirt of knit-over-satin that extended into a short train. Her fingertip veil was held by a silk lace crescent. She wore a single strand of pearls, a remembrance from the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's sister, Miss Leona Winkler, of Omaha, was maid-of-honor. She wore a powder-blue dress knit over silk jersey and a matching crescent. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

John Weichman, nephew of the bridegroom, served as the bridegroom's attendant. The bridegroom wore a brown suit; the bestman, blue.

Ellen Marie Weber, of Ainsworth, the flower girl, appeared in a long blue marquisette dress with matching head crescent. The bridegroom is a World War II veteran, having spent most of his 42-months' service in the southwest Pacific. They will reside on a farm west of Atkinson.

CONSUMERS NETWORK POWER

Serves Nearly 70% of Nebraska's Communities

Consumers interconnected facilities serve approximately seventy percent of Nebraska's thriving communities. Network power provides all those essentials which insure an adequate, complete, outstanding electric service at low cost: multiple sources of power, interconnected transmission systems, system-wide maintenance, diversification (ability to shift needed materials and manpower from one area to another, especially important in cases of emergency), efficiency of unified operations, all of which bring about economies that mean low rates.

Consumers electric network facilities have made possible efficiency and economies in operation until Nebraska's electric rates, on the average, are the lowest in the middle west and among the lowest in the nation. Through lower rates, Nebraska electric users now save in excess of a million dollars a year.
