HER ROYAL FEET!

Perhaps never again in history of the British royal family will a photographer have a chance to snap Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth standing in her stockings feet. The Queen (left) damaged her own shoes. Princess Elizabeth loaned her shoes to her mother, then so that it wouldn't spoil her fun, promptly forgot the incident while enjoying the sights of South Africa with her mother and guest, unidentified.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Irish Lassies Girl Scout troop I had a usual meeting Sunday. Two new girls, Rose Mary Schaffer and Mary Ann Winchell, were present. Dr. W. F. Finley gave us our first aid test. We gave him a small gift to show our appreciation for his teaching us first aid.

After we finished our test, we went for a hike to the city park and had a weiner roast. We toasted marshmallows, sang songs, and played games. All agreed they had had a grand time.

Our new leader, Mrs. Dean Streeter, wore her new uniform to the meeting. All the Girl Scouts have their complete uniforms now. Our investiture ceremony will be at the Golden hotel on May 18. We would like to have all the Girl Scouts' mothers and friends come.

Our plans now are to go to Camp Pani La Shar near Fremont some time in June.

—Suzanne Moss, Troop Scribe.

Jack Kersenbrock, of Chicago, arrived Sunday to spend two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kersenbrock.

GIVE NATURE A CHANCE...

If you are run down, listless and tired because of poor digestion, give nature a chance. Don't use violent purges. Often all your digestive system needs is a little assistance. And that's just what the new, improved ADLERIKA will provide. It's a scientific blend of 7 effective ingredients that work quickly and pleasantly to relieve gas pressure and work waste matter gently through the alimentary canal. It's a kindly stimulant to sluggish intestinal muscles. Order a bottle of ADLERIKA, the "Tone-Up" laxative, from your druggist today. Caution: use only as directed.

LINCOLN—Among the salary increases authorized by the Unicameral is the boost from $3,300 to $3,600 for the deputies in the secretary of state's and auditor's offices and secretary of the railway commission. Price of the brand book may be boosted from $2 to $6 and the state surveyor will collect a tribute of $12 a day in place of $8. The anti-freeze for your car is going to cost the manufacturers $20 a year to market their stuff in Nebraska. Truckers haven't escaped the grand figure raising in the ornate senate chamber; they will plunk down $10 instead of $7.50. These were one hour's achievements a day last week.

A photo hound turned his camera on the wife of one of those musical notables whose name ends with "ski" as he was scheduled to begin a program in a southern city and he refused to proceed until the photographer showed him the negative. Musicians are funny. Union forces put on a near riot in Philadelphia when a Norwegian soprano undertook to sing at a concert—their objection to the fair haired lady not fully defined. Union laborites sometimes are funny. A Hollywood notable says there comes out of his $6,000 a week salary 102½ per cent in taxes and commissions. He still lives as a millionaire. Hollywood people are funny. An editor in Nevada licked the tar out of a footpad that tried to rob him. Editors are sensible.

Sign painters may cheer up. They have friends in the Unicam. A bill to preserve the beauty of charming landscape along Nebraska's far flung dun-grey highways, wire fences, pools of water into which frogs plunge as you speed by, which would have outlawed signboards, has been defeated in committee. Signs have their use and misuse and probably the value of them as advertising along a highway is altogether negligible.

"In the auditorium, of the high school, redecorated with colorful flags, circus signs, and filled with a host of painted-faced clowns, a group of talented students put on a varied performance, including 200 some odd acts." So reads a paragraph from the story of a night with the Lincoln high school. Apparently the "fix the schools are in" is not worrying the school kids.

Francisco Franco, with an eye to the possible desirability for a hasty getaway, has acquired a castle in Ireland.

The PTA, properly translated parents of school children, had a confab recently at the Cornhusker. A psychologist from New York was imported to tell them all about it. The professionals are multiplying yearly, while broken homes and incorrigible kids are multiplying amazingly. It becomes increasingly apparent that psychology is not the answer for domestic infelicity or childhood direction. For parents what could equal the pronouncement of a great apostle, "Husbands love your wives . . . and let the wife see that she reveres her husband." A brief word comes to children from old Mt. Sinai, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

Not many years ago the state law makers favored the dairy interests and butter makers wielding the ax on the 'margarines. Now a bill is before the Unicameral to put ole on the menu of state institutions.

Why send American dollars to the Greek government? If they can not paddle their own canoe after more than 25 centuries maybe they ought to sink. And what concern to us whether the yare communists or democrats?

Linseed is being crowded out by soybean oil as a base for paints. As a dish for the table they are not so attractive and will be gracefully surrendered to the paints.

Nothing could have been more humiliating to the dandy of another generation, immaculately dressed, kid gloves and gold topped cane, than to have had to appear on the street in trousers pressed to a crease front and back, the popular mode today. It would have put him down as a cheap gent wearing "hand-me-down" or readymade clothes. Judge Kinkaid was the tailor's model of the town and stood out in aristocratic contrast to the booted and spurred gents with the big hats that frequented the streets aboard little brown kept that way because of the stream of currency flowing from their pockets to the Lewis cash pot?
