McCARVILLE'S

Former Champs to Compete in Tourney

Dr. Paul Tipton, Omaha, Will Defend Title Won in 1946

Entries are pouring in for the 1947 edition of the Country club's golf tournament to be held here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Heading the list is Dr. Paul W. Tipton, of Omaha, the defending champion. Tipton won the 1946 title in a revival of the tournament following a wartime suspension.

Joe Baldwin, of Ainsworth, and Max Golden, of O'Neill, both former champions; Al Mongerson, of Albion, runner-up in the 1946 meet, and Jack Hillier, of Norfolk, city champ there, have entered the O'Neill competition.

Scovie Jaskowiak and Max Golden, cochairmen of the arrangements committee, said that other entries include golfers from Ainsworth, Bassett, St. Edward, Omaha, Norfolk, Neligh and Winner, S. D. There will be flights for all players, depending upon the entry list.

The prizes will be on display at McCarville's store.

A ladies' bridge party will be in progress Sunday and Monday, and a dance Monday night will be the social highlight of the three-day affair.

NELIGH REVIVES HARNESS RACING

NELIGH—Harness racing will return to northeast Nebraska for the first time in many years at the July 4 celebration to be held in Riverside park at Neligh.

Race men from all over this part of the country will bring their trotters and pacers to Neligh for a revival of the races which John Kay's champion Shade-On made famous here in the early 1900's. Kay was among Nebraska's foremost harness racing enthusiasts and it was he who built the large horse barn in Riverside park which has been renovated for the one-day race meet.

In addition to the featured harness racing attraction, the Neligh American Legion's celebration will offer a $1,000 fireworks display the evening of July 4 and a dance later at the

HE'D RATHER DIE IN USA

Sure, and Patrick Flood has returned from the old sod. The 90-year-old Irish gentleman, a resident of Albany, N. Y., for 70 years, left the United States last October to go to Ireland "to die." But this Spring he came back, offering this immortal explanation of his return: "I wanted to die in the little village where I was born, but the hardwinter almost killed me." He said he wanted to get away from peat fires and back to central heating.

O'NEILL CLUBS SUNDAY LOSERS

O'Neill's two entries in the Holt-Boyd county baseball league suffered reversals Sunday in the second round of games in the first half of the split-season. Meanwhile, Chambers and Bristow engaged in a scoring marathon won by Chambers, 21-14, and Butte defeated Lynch 8-3.

The Rockets' failure to produce with the bases full cost O'Neill the match with Stuart played here. The visitors won 4-2 after outitting O'Neill 7-6. Ed Schmidt checked the first eight innings for O'Neill, and Danny Helmer took over in the ninth.
