

Max Golden Winner in Golf Tournament

Defeats Gene McKenna 6-4 in Tuesday's Tittle Play

M. J. ("Max") Golden, O'Neill hotel proprietor, late Tuesday became the champion of the 23d annual O'Neill Country club invitational golf tournament.

He defeated Gene McKenna, of O'Neill, 6-4 in the finals of the championship flight.

McKenna was the surprise performer of the tourney. He scored upsets at every turn by spilling Van Norman, of Bassett, in the first round; A. P. ("Scovie") Jaskowski, of O'Neill, a pretourney favorite, in the second round, and Gus Caldwell, of Albion, in the semifinals, 4-3.

Golden stayed one-under on the first 13 holes in the title play, and had McKenna bested from the start.

In Sunday's qualifying round, Dr. Paul W. Tipton, of Omaha, the 1946 champion, and Al Mongerson, of Albion, last year's runnerup, shot 73s for the best marks. Both won their first-round matches early Monday as Tipton eliminated Ben Grady, of O'Neill, and Mongerson edged Bill Grady, of O'Neill. McKenna downed Van Norman, of Bassett; Jaskowski defeated Joe Baldwin of Ainsworth; Golden eliminated Walter Mauch, of

Party Leaves for Canadian Lake

A group of seven O'Neill sportsmen departed early Wednesday for Lake of the Woods, Canada, on a 10-day fishing excursion.

In the party are C. J. Gatz, Henry Lohaus, Charles A. Weatherford, Sumner Downey, Edward M. Gallagher, A. P. Jaskowski, and M. J. Golden. They were accompanied by Mark Fangman, of Omaha.

Bassett; George Lightner, of St. Edward, won by default from Jim Hart, of O'Neill, who was out of the city, and Joseph L. McCarville, of O'Neill, defeated Gordon Hiatt, also of O'Neill.

Tipton Ousted
During Monday afternoon's second-round play, Cadwell knocked Tipton out of the running, Lightner's steady play gave him the edge over McCarville, Golden disposed of Mongerson one-down, and McKenna upset Jaskowski.

In Tuesday morning semifinal play, McKenna ousted Cadwell, and Golden defeated Lightner one-up.

A gallery congregated for the title match, but Golden's consistently good golf built an early edge that was never endangered seriously.

Pat Hart, of O'Neill, grabbed second flight honors by defeating Ed Campbell, jr., of O'Neill, 3-1.

Highlight of the meet was the showing of the O'Neill college set, headed by McKenna, Bill Grady and Ed Campbell, jr., who forewarned the oldsters of things to come. In the same youth class is Ainsworth's Al Mongerson and Bill Fox.

Wins Consolation
Fox is a member of the University of Nebraska golf team. He won consolation honors in the championship flight.

There were 84 entered in the tourney—the smallest list in recent years. Tourney officials explained that the dates conflicted with the White Horse ranch show and Ainsworth air show.

ROCKETS WIN 7-3 IN ONLY CONTEST

West O'Neill Spilled; 3 Other Tilts Are Rained - Out

There was only one game played Sunday in the Holt-Boyd county baseball league. The O'Neill Rockets blasted West O'Neill 7-3 in a game here, but elsewhere the skies were dripping and the games were scratched.

Lynch was scheduled for a go at Bristow, Stuart at Butte, and Chambers at Atkinson.

Under the league rules, "rained-out" games are to be played on a date ruled by the loop proxy. However, a special ruling may be made in regard to Sunday's unplayed matches.

O'Neill Blasts Westerners
The O'Neill Rockets grabbed an early lead that was never endangered in trouncing West O'Neill 7-3 Sunday on the public school lot.

The Westerners, however, produced the first triple play of the season in these parts in the first-half of the ninth. With Rockets on first and second, Catcher Conro nabbed an infield fly, caught the runner off first and First Baseman B. Appleby whipped the ball to Second Baseman Fred Appleby in time to complete the triple-play. The runners were Dick Hungerford and Ivan Pruss.

The Westerners outthit the Rockets 8-6 but simply couldn't push across counters.
