ANNOUNCE 35-DAY 'FOWL SEASON'

Opens at High Noon on October 21; Shorter Than Year Ago

The 1947 waterfowl season will open at high noon on October 21 and continue for 35 consecutive days through November 24. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to one hour before sunset on all days except the opening day, when the shooting starts at noon.
 This year's season is considerably shorter than last year's, and waterfowl shooters will be further curtailed by a reduction in the daily bag and possession limit. Ducks will be limited to four per day, with eight permitted in possession. Wood ducks will not be permitted in this year's bag. The bag and possession limit on geese this year will be four, which may include only one Canada goose (including Hutchin's or cackling goose) or one whitefronted goose. Possession of both of these types of geese at the same time will be unlawful.
 The shorter season and smaller bag limit were necessary to stem noticeable decrease in waterfowl, which has occurred during the past three years.
 How good the shooting in Nebraska will be this year depends on whether cold weather drives the birds south during the open season, the sportsmen say.
