Which GOD DO YOU BELIEVE IN?

Sounds queer, doesn't it? "Which God do you believe in?" But it's not nearly as queer as it may sound. The fact of the matter is, millions of people don't know which God they believe in; and what is worse, they don't think it makes much difference.

But the Bible says it does make a difference. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." Exodus 20:3.

And it was no mere "supreme being," no abstract "providence," who spoke those words. It was the Jehovah of Scripture, the triune God: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. To have any other god is to be an idolater.

The God of the Bible is the Holy Trinity: three distinct persons in one divine essence; the Father who made us, the Son (Jesus) who saved us, and the Holy Spirit who converts and sanctifies the human heart. Matt. 3:16-17; 28:19; 2 Cor. 13:14.

Speaking of the first and second persons of the Holy Trinity, Jesus once said: "All men should honor the Son even as they honor the Father. He that honoreth not the Son honoreth not the Father which hath sent Him." John 5:23. Again: "Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father." 1 John 2:23.

Not to believe in Christ is not to believe in God. To reject Christ is to reject the Father.

So if you have not accepted Jesus Christ as the eternal and almighty Son of God, the second Person in the Holy Trinity, you have not accepted the God of the Bible, the only saving God—and, in the words of St. Paul, you are without hope "and without God in the world." Eph. 2:12.

You see, it does make a great deal of difference which God you believe in. The God who saves—who pardons sin because of the atonement of Jesus Christ, our Savior—is the God who has revealed Himself in the pages of the Bible. Do you know Him? Have you put your trust in Him?

PRAIRIELAND TALK

By
ROMAINE SAUNDERS

LINCOLN — It appears on the map of east Africa as Abyssinia. The natives protest. To them it is Ethiopia. Seven of them direct from Addis Ababa, the country's capital, are here in Lincoln in college, and here in Lincoln in college, sent here and all of their expenses paid by the crown prince of that ancient land. Two of the boys here in school talked to me for an hour. Black as midnight, the hair of the negro, relationship to whom they disclaim any connection. Asked if there are authentic records supporting the claim that Ethiopians trace their ancestry to the Hebrew King Solomon and a certain dark skinned queen they assured me that is the national tradition.

Do you want to live 150 years? Go to Abyssinia. One of the young men I talked with, who is taking premedics at Union college to enter a West coast medical school some three years hence, said his grandfather was 135 when he died, death being hastened by cruelties inflicted by Italians at the time of World War I. Ages from 125 to 150 are the rule. That country of 350,000 square miles is a spot left on the globe for the simple life.

The national religion is Greek Orthodox, with two fast days each week, Wednesday and Friday, and two Sabbath days, Saturday and Sunday. The use of tobacco is unknown. Grains, fruit and vegetables grow in abundance, farming being carried on with ox teams and the little horses of the country used for riding and riding. Six cents of American money buys 100 eggs and a dime more than a pound of meat, which is mutton or goat meat. With a bit of scorn at the thought of the creature Seifu, one of the boys, said there are no pigs in Ethiopia. This young man is taking an engineering course. The other boy gave me his name as Nem.

He told me of his visit to the pyramids in Egypt. They are built of blocks of stone 6 x 12 feet and have stood in a rainless region throughout the centuries, surviving the monuments of Assyria, Babylon and the Persians.

If some of these seven boys survive the shock of four years of college and four of university amid the dizzy whirl of American life they will go back to their native land equipped as doctors, engineers, economic advisors and religious leaders among a people that is awakening out of a dream of pleasant simplicity.

A letter carrier on my route walks eight and a half miles. A business man in the next block drives a car two blocks to his job.

Holt county newspaper men have been recognized again for their executive ability in the selection of Ralph Kelly, of the Atkinson Graphic, as president of the north-central Nebraska Press association. Editor Kelly has had the experience and honor of serving as president of the state press association, the first one to occupy that position from Holt county being the late D. H. Cronin. Mr. Cronin was president of the Nebraska Press association in the earlier history of the organization about the beginning of this century. The county has had some able newspaper men, such as Mathews and King at O'Neill, Wertz and Rosa Hudson at Stuart, McArthur and O. C. Bates at Atkinson. Selah at Ewing and, not the least, Harry Ingles of the bright bristling Shamrock Pickins.

The snow-crowned Alps forever on guard, little Switzerland remains a haven of rest apart from Europe's blood-soaked soil.

Mr. Hoover calls for food rationing that the hungry in other lands may eat and live. Groups here and there are proposing boycotts to bring down from the sky prices of food stuffs. Waiting myself to have a six bit order filled for three fifty a cent ordered three kinds of meat, the price of one selection, 85 cents a pound, not scaring him. Yank-ees are going to have their grub stake at whatever cost.

They say a "depression" is inevitable. Maybe so. Feast and famine has been the lot of the race throughout succeeding ages and that about a billion and a half of us have survived the vicissitudes of time speaks well for the hardihood of the genus Homo. Nobody wants to experience industrial collapse but a return to normal prices in all commodities is devoutly to be wished.

So you think we are pretty flush with cash here in the USA? Did you know that individual citizens and corporations are in debt to the tune of 150 billion dollars, an increase of eight billion four hundred million dollars over the previous year? All of this in addition to government indebtedness.

Playboy, a new thing in automobiles, has come out of the factory at Brooklyn priced at $985 and described as one of the choicest in the road brigade, and its price is one of the attractive features compared with what is asked for other makes.

Tangling with the state game commission, 22 pheasants in the locker of a Merriack county gent cost him $455.

IMPORTANT DEMOCRATIC MEETING
William Ritchie, of Omaha, state chairman of the Democratic party in this state, will be here on October 4 at 9:30 a. m. and we would like a large gathering of young and old Democrats of the county to meet our state chairman at that time. He will be very glad to meet all of you and he will have something very good to tell you. The meeting will be held in the dining room of the Golden hotel. Let us have a large turn out.

CELIA SIDELIGHTS

D. W. Allard and son, Vincent, who have been farming their place, were to have sold their stock, farm machinery and household goods today (Thursday). Both Allard families are leaving Celia. Vincent married a Celia girl, the former Catherine Kilmurry.

Victor Frickel and Ronnie Frickel called on the Ray Pease family this week to borrow a set of stove movers so it sounds like winter is about here, if Frickels are setting up the heating stove. Vic had been digging potatoes that day and Ronnie, son of Connie Frickel, jr., had been helping him.

Hy McKathnie is driving a new Ford pickup and reports that is the first brand new car he has ever owned.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Samms are staying at the Olgot Hammerberg farm while the Hammerbergs vacation in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Samms is the former Thelma Hammerberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hammerberg. They have one daughter, Dianne.

After having a saddle horse missing all summer, Frank Kilmurry has finally located it in the Lee Terwilliger pasture. The Terwilligers had advertised the horse but Mr. Kilmurry didn't recognize the description.

Bob Pease is working in the Henry Heiser hay crew this week, helping them to wind up their haying season. The crew is using two tractor mowing outfits, a three-hitch rake system with tractor, two truck sweeps and one stacking outfit. With a frost forecast last week, many Celia people hurriedly gathered in ripe and green tomatoes and harvested other garden produce that a hard freeze would injure and did other things to protect against the freeze. And then what happened? It didn't frost! A light frost had visited the neighborhood a day or two before, but did little damage.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pease called on the R. M. Pease family in O'Neill last Thursday to investigate how the Robert Pease home had withstood being moved from their farm home five miles southwest of Emmet. They found it had been moved in good shape. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Pease have bought lots in the southwest part of O'Neill, moved in their farm home and will remodel it.

James Reed, of Denton, arrived last Thursday to visit his daughter, Mrs. W. F. Spann, of Atkinson, and his granddaughter, Mrs. R. L. Pease.

Mrs. Helen Spann, of Norfolk.
