A 14-year-old son of F. D. Adams, living 12 miles southwest of town, met with a terrible accident Saturday. He had started to drive up the cows in the morning on a bronco. The animal being wild ran away with the boy and came in contact with a wire fence. The boy's leg was raked against the barbs of the fence for a distance of eight feet and then he fell from the animal going entire-ly over the fence and lit on his head and shoulders. The leg was cut to the bone nearly around the limb ranging from the ankle to the knee. Dr. Fort was called and dressed the wound. Mrs. Rose Terry Coone gives her sex some excellent advice, but I will wager a cotton umbrella that it will not be heeded. Mrs. Coone says they must open their windows, wear flannel night gowns. and take a jug of hot water to bed if they are cold, but never sleep with closed windows. air all their clothes and their room, eat simple, wholesome food, wear boneless waists, and button their shirts on them and take the heels off their boots. When Mrs. Coone asks her sex to do all this merely for the sake of health and comfort she forgets the name of frailty, according to Francis William Bacon Shake-

Beer Retailers Approve Self-Regulation

The great majority of beer retailers in Nebraska are themselves among the strongest champions of beer industry Self-Regulation.

They know their own reputation and business future may suffer if a few fail to recognize the responsibilities of a beer license. They endorse the work of the Nebraska Committee and the brewing industry in:

1. Promoting among beer retailers a better understanding of clean and lawful practices.

2. Supporting legal authorities in elimination of undesirable elements from the beer industry.

The brewing industry, through the Nebraska Committee, has practiced Self-Regulation in the state for nearly ten years. It has the support of state and local governing bodies, the public generally, and all branches of the brewing in-

New Telephone Rates Will Help Meet Rising Costs

A revision of telephone rates to meet greatly increased operating costs was approved by the Nebraska State Railway Commission in its order of September 30. New rates for local service will be effective with bills dated after November 1. Changes in long distance rates will be effective November 1.

This is the first general adjustment in prices in more than twenty years. In the same period higher wage rates and huge advances in material costs have made it increasingly difficult to keep the business in a healthy financial condition. So there was no alternative to a repricing if we were to make ends meet.

The rates now authorized are the lowest practicable under present conditions and we hope they will be sufficient to establish the sound earnings position that will enable us to obtain from investors the large amounts of money required for much-needed plant additions.

It is our aim to make a completely adequate service available at reasonable cost to all who want it, when wanted - in cities, on farms and ranches — a better service than ever before.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

TOWARD A BETTER TELEPHONE SERVICE

We're working at top speed to provide more and better telephone service to more people. Since the war we have spent $7,300,000 in Nebraska principally to meet backed up demand. Our continuing program calls for new or enlarged buildings in many cities or towns. It will include installation of hundreds of miles of long distance circuits, additional switchboard positions -dial switching equipment, cables, and other facilities in greater quantities than ever before.

The dollars to pay for this expansion — some $20,000,000 in the next few years — come not from the money we take in for telephone service, but from the investments of thousands of people willing to put their savings in a going business in a healthy condition.
