Beer Retailers: When in Doubt Do Not Sell!

In Nebraska, the law forbids the sale of beer to minors under age 21.

Every retailer must refuse to sell beer to anyone who is not of legal age to make the purchase.

It is to the beer retailer's high credit that when in doubt he does not sell.

Likewise, the beer retailer merits cooperation from the public. Do not ask him to sell beer contrary to law—and do not object when the retailer "leans backward" to be sure he is right.

Citizens can help us by reporting to this Committee, in confidence, any fact involving the sale of beer which violates the law or the sensibilities of the public. Then, after thorough investigation, such steps will be taken by this office as seem warranted.

BEFORE SHE CAN WALK, HONEST . . . Ever hear anyone brag about how he learned to swim before he could walk? Take a look at a youngster who won't be kidding when she tells that story. Sherry Lynn Whitford, of Los Angeles, is only nine-months-old and already she's swimming the 20-foot dash. The tot swims three times daily and uses a combination of dog paddle and crawl to propel herself about the pool. She swims with her tiny head under water. Here, she is being dropped into the water by Crystal Scarborough.

When You and I Were Young — Band's Importance Second Only to Pro Ball Team

60 YEARS AGO
February 9, 1888

A concert and ball was given Tuesday evening at the rink for the benefit of George Summerville, the stage driver, who was so badly frozen during the blizzard. The amount raised after paying expenses was about $80. Amputation of some of his toes was necessary and he is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Alexander Athy returned from Wisconsin last week with his bride. Mr. Athy was married to Miss Minnie E. Cummings, of Chippewa Falls, on January 11. A social party and reception was given at the Academy on Monday evening in honor of their arrival in O'Neill, a nice little company being in attendance. Mr. A. is one of our rising young attorneys and is working up a good practice.

The fine residence of Mrs. S. A. Adams came very near being reduced to ashes on Tuesday night. Some mice got hold of a box of matches in the bathroom adjoining the dining room and nibbled at them till they set them on fire. Fortunately, however, there were some blankets and clothing lying over the burning box and the smoke roused the household. It was indeed a miraculous escape, as there was a large can of gasoline sitting within a few feet of the burning clothing.

50 YEARS AGO
February 10, 1898

The residence of John McKenna, corner Second and Douglas streets, was gutted by fire about two o'clock Tuesday morning. It appears that the fire was ignited from the kitchen stove. Mr. McKenna and his son, Hugh, were asleep in bed at the time. Mr. McKenna being awakened by plaster falling from the ceiling. He got out of bed, opened the door leading into the kitchen and discovered the building in flames. His son ran down town and turned in an alarm to which the department soon responded. Shortly after the stream was turned on they had the flames extinguished but the building is so badly gutted that it is useless.

Several of the musically inclined boys have organized a band and engaged Prof. Hendershot, of Plainview, as instructor. The boys start out determined to organize one of the best bands in the state, and we see no reason why we should not have one if the citizens will lend them the encouragement their efforts deserve.

Outside of a professional ball team there is nothing that does more to advertise a town than a good band. We cannot have a ball team, but we can and ought to have a band. Tune up.

If fashion insists on increasing the size of ladies' headgear it will soon be necessary to enlarge doors as the present ones will be too small to admit a lady wearing a hat with a two foot rim and feathers reaching over a foot further. They ought to be termed the "parachute hat."

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Carson, residing near the Redbird store in the north part of the county, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on January 31.
