WHEAT PIT ACTION AS PRICES TUMBLE
 ... Across the nation the big news in February was that prices of corn, wheat, cattle and hogs had tumbled drastically in the commodity markets. While happy housewives hailed the price drops as a possible harbinger of lower prices in the grocery stores, fenetic traders in the wheat pit at the Chicago board of trade (above) shouted and waved their arms in the rush of active and nervous trading. Although it was too early for any definite predictions, some experts immediately analyzed the downward price trend in the commodity markets as the beginning of a healthy price adjustment leading toward gradual deflation.

When You and I Were Young — O'Neill's Streets Likened to Omaha's; Both Deplorable

 George Shannon was over from Redbird this week trying to make some arrangements to prospect for coal on his farm. He is pretty well satisfied that coal exists there and it only requires a little means and work to ascertain to a certainty of its existence. We hope he will be successful in his efforts to bring the "diamonds" to the surface.
 Henry Miller, the man who was under a snowdrift or slugged for his money we do not know which, was on our streets Tuesday shaking hands with old friends, as lively a corpse as one would wish to see. He is teaching singing school at Clearwater and Elgin, a new town south of Oakdale, and when the terms are out rather expects to return to O'Neill. He will be welcomed back by his many friends here.

until the completion of the church.
 Atkinson Graphic: Mrs. J. O. Hubbel, landlady of the Golden hotel in O'Neill, spent Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. F. Griffin. Master Billy accompanied his grandmother home for a short stay.
 Tom Murphy has stored 3,000 tons of ice in his several ice houses. Work has been suspended awaiting a new installment of cold weather.
 A great many of the town and also county officials in different parts of the state have begun to enforce the auser to license regulations. The state law requires that cars be not driven faster than thirty-five miles per hour for the safety of everybody. This seems to be a good law and should be enforced.

 Nothing has appeared in this or any other country for years that has so excited the people of this city as the blowing up of the man-of-war Maine. On the street corners and every place a person can go there are mutterings of war, and judging people by what they say a regiment of troops could be mustered in here in twenty-four hours.
 Since the weather has moderated the Klondike fever has again broken out in this section, and the indications are that two or three more O'Neillites will join the rush Alaskaward.
