KNEE-DEEP IN HERRING . . . When more than 100 tons of herring landed in boats at Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, Calif., the bottom almost fell out of the herring market—to say nothing of the boats. It was the largest haul in 30 years, according to records of the California fish and game commission. Here, Florence Zacher, in whom the sight of 100 tons of herring raises no gastronomical qualms, helps unload the record catch.

PRAIRIELAND By ROMAINE SAUNDERS

The little brown birds that have wintered in O'Neill have found a friend out on First street at the L. G. Gillespie home.

Mrs. Gillespie collects her bread crumbs, steps out in the back yard and calls the birds. Here they come in flocks, flapping and fluttering as they alight, a hungry pack on the crumbs that have been placed out for them. They have learned the call to breakfast and gather for the daily feast eagerly and unafraid.

As I spent last week in O'Neill, I learned of this little bird incident and was informed also that a bluejay and robin have been guests of the snowbirds at times at the breakfast table. Heavy snows in portions of the state have covered the winter feed of the birds and they are seen along the highways where snow has been worn away looking for feed, not a few coming to a tragic end in the traffic, the lordly pheasant among such.

The Eagle creek in Holt county may be visited soon by explorers from the state historical society museum who will look for Indian specimens. The Eagle, the Niobrara and other northern Holt county streams have reflected the curling smoke of Indian campfires and their sands bore the prints of beaded moccasins with in the memory of many now living ad those in search of trophies will not come away empty-handed.

The American Medical association is concerned over the shortage of qualified physicians in rural areas and has developed plans to aid young men desirous of studying medicine if they will fill some of the needs in rural districts when graduated. The medics in long white gowns and looking wise now seen walking in dignified professionalism along the halls of hospitals bulk large while it is difficult to find one available in some communities who will take to the country road on a winter night to ease the pains of a sufferer and maybe save a life.

Hollywood has laid down the gauntlet in the face of the czar of the American Federation of Musicians, kicked out a union orchestra, and put on a non-union organization. As goes Hollywood in some matters, so goes the country.

Reminiscent of other days when the plunging, fighting mount of a bronc rider took to the plank walks of the streets of O'Neill and kicked out a glass front, the driver of an automobile a night last week turned into the curb on Douglas street and headed straight for the plate glass of a local cafe. When just 2 inches from the window, the car was brought to a stop, the driver nearly falling out in a faint.

Mr. Johnson regards it as his duty as attorney general to lobby for that tidelands measure down there at Washington and announces he intends to disregard all suggestions at home that he resign from the statehouse force. As he seems to view it, the interests of Nebraska are at stake in congress, though not so anyone out here can notice, and the $1500 a month is only incidental.

Billions of dollars are as common in the day's news as the weather report. So the genius at figures has computed the length of a billion of one dollar bills to be 100,000 miles, or 4 times the circle of the Earth. And computed in time, one billion minutes have been ticked off since A. D. 45.

March winds have been traded for Winter's snow. The capital city was blanketed the first week of March with 22 inches and about the same prevailed all the way to Grand Island. The flat country in York county may become a vast inland lake when the celestial furnace turns on heat sufficient to reduce the deep snows to water.

Lincoln city bus drivers get 6 cents an hour raise in pay without having involved the transportation system in a strike, but accepted 14 cents less than the original demand. In view of the trend in industry to reduce working forces perhaps these bus operators felt it was wise to take what they could get.

CELIA SIDELIGHTS

George Beck's butchered a beef on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. El Milnar and Lex and Paul Forsythe helped with the butchering.

The Celia coyote hunters again ventured out into the wide open spaces last week and 3 more coyotes went to their "happy hunting grounds." The total vanquished is now 18.

Mrs. Algot Hammerberg is enjoying a beautiful new set of built-in all-steel cupboards and sink. A gas stove has also added a modern touch to Mrs. Hammerberg's blue-and-white kitchen.

Earl Maxwell, of the state forestation service, County Agent A. Neil Dawes, Home Agent Catherine Kirwin and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Samms and daughter, Dianne, and Miss Marjorie Samms were guests of the Algot Hammerberg family for supper March 3.

Mrs. Alpha McKathnie and daughter, Ellen, were weekend guests at the S. V. Johnson home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pease and son, Bob, were guests at the R. M. Pease home in O'Neill February 29.

Alex Frickel butchered a beef last Thursday. His brothers, Connie and Victor, and Ray and Bob Pease helped him.

Bob Pease spent last Thursday night at the L. W. Terwilliger home.

Mrs. Allen Marquardt, of Norfolk, the former Lillian Frickel, has been visiting relatives. They include: Mrs. Duke Hoffman, Victor Frickel and family, Conrad Frickel, jr. and family; her brothers, Alex and Herman Frickel, and her father, Conrad Frickel, sr., and sister, Mrs. Byrl Beck. Mrs. Marquardt came last week with her sister, Mrs. Duke Hoffman, who accompanied by Mrs. Victor Frickel and Mrs.

Byrl Beck, had been to Norfolk. She returned Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke Hoffman have the honor of embarking the first baby chicks in the community as they received theirs this week. Now everyone knows where to go for the first fried chicken.

Mrs. Ed Bausch had a card party on March 2 on her husband's birthday anniversary, and most of the neighbors attended. It was also the Bausch's 12th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent playing pitch. Mrs. S. V. Johnson won the ladies' high prize; Walter Young, men's high; Mrs. John Swindt, ladies' low, and John Obermire, men's low.

Mrs. Alpha McKathnie left for Oakland on the train Friday night where she will visit her brothers, Albert and Elmer Johnson.
