

Frenzy Accompanies Word of Land Office Transfer

60 Years Ago
April 2, 1888

Monday evening our city was suddenly thrown into a state of intense excitement and enthusiasm by the announcement that the Niobrara land office had been ordered removed to O'Neill. A telegram was received from Mr. Fahy from Chicago saying that reliable reports had reached there from Washington to the effect that the office had been ordered removed. This is what the citizens of the town have long and patiently waited for. They have worked for what rightly belonged to them and now their labors are to be rewarded. Justice will always come to the deserving, and O'Neill surely deserves this recognition on the part of the government.

The glad news was the cause of universal rejoicing and appropriate demonstrations, the band boys heralding the glad tidings through their silver trumpets and the glory blaze of a large bonfire throwing light on the subject.

James Markey, the Shakespearean elocutionist who compounds prescriptions at the city drug store, was quite sick Sunday night and Monday morning with a severe cold. At the present writing he is estirily recovered. Dear readers, if at any time you are feeling gloomy or down hearted just drop into Morris & Co. store and request Mr. Markey to console you. With the eloquence of a born minister, he will fire a few lines of "Hamlet" or "MacBeth" at you, and if you don't immediately transform into a new being, as it were, we must admit that your case is a peculiar one and is past the power of the most expert skill.

YOU Select Beer Licensees

It is NOT the beer industry, nor the Nebraska Committee, United States Brewers Foundation, that issues the licenses permitting beer sales in your town.

It is YOU, and the other citizens of your town who do that, with and through local and state governing bodies.

YOU are responsible in determining whether the operation of taverns in your town is to be good this coming year.

With license-granting time here, it is your civic duty to act at once in seeing that licenses are given only to worthy citizens.

Remember—the law provides that the governing body which issues licenses in your town must be guided by the facts presented to them.

Don't hold back and then complain afterward. Act NOW! Appear at the public hearings to be held, or file a written protest or criticism if you feel one is warranted. Help us weed out undesirable!

The Easter Monday ball, given by the K. of P's, surpassed all previous efforts in the line of social entertainment ever attempted by them, and many are the compliments they have received. Everyone who entered the hall was presented with a beautiful bouquet, tied with red, yellow and blue ribbon—the emblematic colors of the order—and these, taken with the lovely Easter dresses worn by the ladies made a scene that would delight the eye of an artist.
