Victory dinners are premature, but the political optimism of a democrat carries him a long way. They may not have a chance after the votes are counted.

State and county fairs may have to throw up the sponge, but you will probably see the South Fork Fair association at Chambers functioning this year as usual.

Intoxication once had a bearing as to one's guilt or innocence if charged with a crime. To set up such a claim in court now is tantamount to inviting conviction. A drunk has ceased to be funny.

Crude oil at one-fifth of a cent a gallon that refines eighty-five per cent gasoline which retails for 13 and 14 cents a gallon is a pretty fair profit to split among the refineries, transportation companies and dealers.

There is a note of sincerity in Senator Borah's proposal to reduce the salaries of all government officials in the $5,000 a year and more classes.
It includes the members of congress who would be cut from ten thousand to eight thousand.

Students at the state university at Madison, Wis., are in rebellion against campus traffic rules. Its rather the fashion to rebel against all restraint and that attitude contributes its share to make up the sum total of some sixty thousand fatal traffic crashes annually.

With adequate supplies at hand the local relief committees are doing an effective job of taking care of the calls made for supplies. It is something of an undertaking and those who are giving their time to help in this work are showing a real public spirit.

Why should a man be expected to become endowed with supernatural powers as soon as he enters upon his duties at the White House? The disgraceful insults heaped upon Mr.
Hoover are so radical that they cannot be considered any thing but the bickering of fools.

As to a special session of the state legislature, Mr. Bryan can't see it that way. Its not the empty manger, the bare corn crib, the vacant haymow that his excellency sees—its the scions of predatory wealth that he says are interested in their chattel mortgage securities that Charley has a weather eye on.

Dr. Sheldon's Nebraska History Magazine has put a wet blanket on the romantic and adventurous past which the old timers cherish as a fond memory and the younger generation feel a little envious over. The story of the deeds of the old plain-man that had become a sort of folk lore to Nebraskans is now wrote down as a myth. It looks like nothing of heart interest—of inspirational value —of romantic and chivalrous facination—is to escape the cold and exact calculation of "scientific investigation."

PRESIDENTIAL CRITICS

Topeka Capital: President Hoover comes in for so much abuse for all the troubles of the world that The Arkansas City Traveler has taken the pains to go back into the historical records and report how some of his predecessors came off. It quotes a newspaper as protesting that Washington regarded the American people as his subjects. "The President has violated the Constitution," it complained, and "Louis XVI of France in the meridian of his splendor and his power, never dared to heap such insults on his subjects." Another paper declared that "if ever a nation was debauched by a man, the American Nation has been debauched by Washington."

One critic publicly assailed John Adams when President as "a hoary traitor." A familiar note was sounded in criticism of President Jefferson, one publication declaring that "he obtained his property by fraud and robbery; in one instance he defrauded and robbed a widow and fatherless estate of which he was executor." Jackson was accused of "violating all laws, human and divine." Some of the choice terms applied to him were "murderer, traitor, and adulterer." There are people still living who remember when Lincoln was termed a "usurper, traitor and tyrant," not in the South, but in the North. He was called a human monstrosity and a baboon, among other kind of epithets.

Roosevelt was forced to bring criminal libel suits against some of his detractors. Cleveland was called a drunkard and accused of beating his wife, the charming mistress of the White House. Wilson was charged with having made $3,000,000 speculating in Wall street in advance of his war proclamation and of having had illicit relations with a well-known and admirable woman who was his friend.

When the treatment of Presidents by nit-wit detractors is reviewed it appears that abuse of Presidents is not a reflection upon the men this Nation has chosen for Chief Magistrates, but a sad reflection on the mental capacity of the critics.

The Two Billion Corporation

Washington, January 21.—Financial relief for agriculture, commerce and industry in the sum total of two billions of dollars is the purpose of the newly enacted Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, which form the hub of President Hoover's twelve-spoke program for the rehabilitation of the nation.

Reduced to simple terms, the act is designated primarily to bolster the fast afterling banking structure by aiding both solvent and insolvent banks; to prevent a collapse of the rail transportation systems of the country which find themselves unable to carry on necessary refinancing because of unfavorable security market conditions, and to aid Intermediate Credit Banks, Agricultural Credit Corporations, building and loan associations and insurance companies.

With the failure last year of 2,500 banks with deposits of $1,759,000,000 it is apparent that swift and effective action must be taken if relief is to be afforded in time to prevent a most serious and far reaching development.
The outstanding difficulty confronting the country spring from the loss of confidence and the general state of fear that has been created by these widespread bank failures.

Meantime, banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System find themselves without such negotiable paper as can be offered for re-discount at the Federal Reserve Banks and so are unable to find the necessary assistance from this Federal system. As a consequence of these developments deposits in large amounts have been tied up in banks now solvent; confidence has been seriously shaken and there has been a break-down of local credit facilities with widespread decreases in values and general demoralization of business.

In this situation there must be an improvement in the banking system before there can be any expectation of a return to normal conditions in the nation's economic life. With this end in view the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act will provide credit facilities that will afford relief to many banks that are worthy of credit and are unable at this time to command necessary accommodations.

In addition to the relief which will be given to these institutions, provision is made for loans upon the assets of any banks that are closed, insolvent or in process of liquidation to aid in the reorganization or liquidation of such banks. It is the hope that this provision will afford a large measure of relief to communities that have been deprived of normal banking accommodations and so aid such communities in attaining economic recovery.

The depression has hit the railroads hard, causing tremendous decreases in both their freight and passenger traffic income. In addition, the condition of the financial market affects their ability to refinance maturities that are coming due and which are in some instances most pressing. The total amount of maturities which fall due this year is $110,782,506.

With refinancing of these obligations made impossible under present market conditions the whole transportation system is threatened with disaster if relief is not afforded. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized to make loans to such carriers as are unable to obtain funds upon reasonable terms through banking channels or from the general public.

With this vast aid to banking institutions, agricultural credit organizations and to the railroads, it is the confident belief that the credit situation will be eased all along the line with adequate facilities provided for the large refinancing agriculture, commerce and industry. And it is the purpose to get the new corporation functioning without delay. An initial capital of $500,000,000 will be furnished by the Treasury so that immediate pressing loans may be made.
In addition the corporation would issue one billion, five hundred million dollars of its own securities to be used in making additional loans in the next year or two.

The great necessity at this time is the restoration of credit and confidence. It is hope and the belief alike of public officials and the heads of the great agricultural, industrial and labor organizations that this measure will accomplish this result.
