M. F. Harrington Passes Away

M. F. Harrington passed away at his home in this city at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening, after an illness of a little over two months, of heart disease. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's church, interment in Calvary cemetery.

M. F. Harrington was born at Lindsay, Ontario, Canada, on November 7, 1860, and was seventy-one years and seven and a half months of age at the time of his death. Mr. Harrington's folks were farmers and he attended the country schools in Canada and then taught school there for a few terms, then studied law. On February 8, 1887, he was united in marriage at Cornwall Canada, to Miss Margaret McEnery and shortly thereafter they came to O'Neill, which has been his home continuously since that time.

Mr. Harrington leaves to mourn the death of a kind and loving husband, father and brother, his wife, and two daughters, Mrs. Constance Wattles, of Hot Springs, S. D., and Mrs. Clea Percer, of Chicago; three sons, Gerald, of Oakland California; Frank of Seattle, Wash., and George of this city. One brother, J. J. Harrington of this city and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Morrow, of Omaha.

Shortly after Mr. Harrington's arrival in this city he entered the law office of the late Congressman, M. P. Kinkaid, where he studied law and perfected himself in his chosen profession. At that time Judge Kinkaid was recognized as the leading lawyer in this section. Shortly thereafter Judge Kinkaid was elected to the state senate and Mr. Harrington started in the law business for himself. He was unusually successful in his chosen profession. He was recognized as one of the most resourceful attorneys who ever practiced before the courts of this state. In his early years in practice he successfully defended several persons charged with murder and his success gained him not only state wide, but national prominence, and the demand for his services constantly increased, until he was on one side or the other in about each important law suit tried in this state for several years.

For years he was a thorn in the sides of railway and other corporations as he successfully prosecuted damage suits against them, in the Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Missouri courts. He was generally found on the side of the poor man as against the corporations, and always willing to take their case and fight for them through every court, if he was convinced that they had a just cause.

He was an indefatigable worker and during terms of court and prior thereto, in preparing a case for trial, would spend most of the night in his office marshalling his facts and the Joe Ryan returned home last Friday evening from Prairie du Chein, Wis., where he has been attending school the past year. On his way home he tarried in Sioux City long enough to submit to a tonsilotomy operation.

Mrs. Mary Massie and Miss Chelsea Besack, of Omaha, arrived in the city the latter part of last week for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dishner and to attend the social doings in connection with the annual golf tournament.

M. F. O'Donnell, of Dallas, Texas, arrived in the city the latter part of last week to visit the home folks and incidentally participate in the annual tournament of the O'Neill Country Club. He left for his southern home this morning.

Mrs. Cecilia Balch, of El Paso, Tex., arrived here this week to spend a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, who reside north of O'Neill. Mrs. Balch visited the Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado, enroute to O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Froelich and children arrived in the city last Saturday for a few days visit with relatives and friends here. They left Wednesday morning for Chicago, where Mr. Froelich is now stationed, and were accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Stout who will visit with them in Chicago for several weeks.

law applicable to the case and then appear in court bright and early in the morning ready to match intellect with the brightest attorneys in the state or nation. The men, often high salaried attorneys of the big corporations, recognized in Mr. Harrington a foeman worthy of their best efforts and many compliments has the writer heard, during the past twenty years, given him by these representatives of big business on his legal accumen and his magnetic personality before a jury. As a trial lawyer he was recognized as without a peer in this state or any of the adjoining states.

Several years ago Mr. Harrington was offered a splendid salary to represent one of the big corporations of the state. In those days the salary offered was a princely one, but Mr. Harrington turned it down without any qualms stating that he much preferred to represent the plain people and that by fighting their battles through the courts he got his greatest enjoyment from life.

A quarter of a century ago he was a power in the political life of the state. At least one governor owed his nomination and election to that office, to him, Gov. Poynter, of Boone county, who was elected in 1898. About that time the populist party was at the height of its power and Mr. Harrington could have had any office within the gift of the representatives of the people of that party in convention assembled, but he declined all offers of political office for himself, but was always untiring in his efforts on behalf of his friends. In later years he has not been as active politically as in former years, but during the campaign of two years ago was very active in that campaign in behalf of Senator Norris' campaign for re-election and no man in the state secured more gratification over the election of a candidate than he did over the reelection of the senior senator from this state. He was always ready and willing to spend money in a campaign to assist his friends. He did it because he valued the friendship of his friends and thought but little of money. Many a man in this county and state have been assisted politically by him and there will be many eyes that will grow dim when they learn of the death of their loyal friend and benefactor.

As a citizen of this city he was always found in the front ranks as a booster for the city and county. His general greeting will be sorely missed by his many friends and acquaintances in this city and county for they can truthfully say a loyal friend and brilliant man has passed away.

The Frontier joins the many friends of the family in extending their sincere sympathy in their hour of bereavement.

Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Gleason and daughter, Georgia Belle, of Randolph came up last Saturday for the golf tournament. During their stay in the city they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hart. They returned home Tuesday evening.

M. H. Horiskey, Herb Hammond, William Martin and George Harrington left last Saturday morning for the Minnesota lakes on a fishing trip, making the trip in Horiskey's new Chrysler. There will be some great fishing stories on tap when the boys return.

Mrs. J. S. Ennis informs this office that they have quite a novelty in their yard. It is a cherry tree on which one crop of cherries has ripened and been picked and the trees are again in full bloom. It would appear as if this tree was trying to do its share in dispelling depression.

H. D. Grady went down to York last Sunday morning to attend the state convention or encampment, of the Spanish War Veterans. Geo. R. Lunn, the national commander of the organization, of New York, was present and addressed the veterans. Henry says that he was agreeably surprised to find that Commander Lunn had been a member of his regiment, the Third Nebraska, during the war. Henry says that he had an enjoyable time visiting with the veterans. He returned home Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McNery, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, arrived in the city last Saturday for a visit at the home of Mrs. McNery's mother, Mrs. Ellen O'Donnell and other relatives here and incidentally to take in the golf tournament. They left for their Wyoming home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Murphy and daughter, Josephine, of Chicago, arrived in the city last Saturday evening and are guests at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. J. Harrington. Mr. Murphy was a former resident of this county, living on a farm about three miles west of the cemetery, where the family remained for several years, then moved to Chicago.

L. C. McKim received a letter from his son, D. Calvin, the first of the week informing him that he is now teaching summer school in the University of Ohio, at Athens, Ohio. For the past three years Mr. McKim has been an instructor in the A. M. C. College at Bryant, Texas, and he has been reemployed there for another year, his employment in Ohio being for the summer months.

The O'Neill and Walnut base ball teams played a very interesting game on the O'Neill diamond last Sunday afternoon. It was a splendid game and was won by O'Neill with a score of three to two. Fox and Farr were the battery for O'Neill. The O'Neill boys are playing especially good ball now and a great game is looked for at Long Pine on July Fourth, when the local boys cross bats with the Winner, South Dakota team for a $150 purse.

J. B. Ryan accompanied by his sons, Joe and Bobbie, left Wednesday afternoon for Alliance, Nebr., where they will visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Godding; from Alliance they will go to Gillette, Wyo., where they will visit with Mr. Ryan's brother, John, then to Sheridan where they will visit another brother, M. F. Ryan. From there they will go to Denver, Colo., where they will visit a sister of Mr. Ryan's, Mrs. Ed. O'Connell. Then to Ogallala, Nebr., where they will visit at the home of another sister, Mrs. Thomas Nolan. They expect to be absent about two weeks. They are making the trip in a new Chevrolet sedan that Mr. Ryan has just purchased.

Emmet Squires, who about forty-seven years ago, drove the mail from Niobrara to O'Neill, and who lived in the Mineola neighborhood, was in the city the latter part of last week looking over the scenes of his early labors. Mr. Squires left this county forty-five years ago and has been a resident of Wisconsin for several years. The urge to come back and see the scenes of his early labors was so great that he made a trip here just for the purpose of looking the town and country over. For several days, while in the city, he entertained the younger generation with tales of his exploits while driving the mails nearly a half century ago, but he did not find very many who remembered him.

When driving along the highways these days you run into a good many road hogs, but the greatest hogs that we have encountered are the ones who are driving trucks now graveling the highway east of this city, between Page and Ewing. These hogs will get in the center of the road with these big trucks and will not move over an inch to let a car by, although there are several feet on his side of the road. We encountered one of these on our way home from Omaha last Monday night. We were both traveling north. At that particular part of the road the gravel was on the west side of the road. We followed this truck for about a mile trying to get him to move over so we could get by, but we might as well have been honking at a cement post, for all the attention he paid. Then we pulled up and tried to pass him with one wheel running through a pile of soft gravel and we went into the ditch. But he did not care, he was all hog and seemed to glory in it. We would like to have had a big war tank so that we might have been able to attempt to give him a lesson in road courtesy. Drivers of his character are a menace on the highway and the sooner these road contractors will eliminate this class of drivers from their pay rolls the sooner these companies will get into the good graces of the traveling public.
