BRIEFLY STATED

There is a great deal of hog Cholera in this county. We understand that several farmers in the eastern edge of the county and in Knox and Antelope have lost a large number of hogs from this dreaded disease.

Local relatives of William Froelich received word last Saturday that he had been appointed first assistant to the new United States Attorney at Chicago, with a nice increase in salary. The former U. S. Attorney there has been appointed United States District Judge and Dwight Green, who was one of the assistants in District Attorney's office, has been named as United States Attorney, and he selected Mr. Froelich as his first assistant. This is a splendid advance and O'Neill friends tender Mr. Froelich their congratulations.

PROPER DISPOSAL OF DISEASED ANIMAL CARCASSES

Destruction of the carcasses of animals is best accomplished by a simple method of burning which is very effective. In so far as possible, the carcasses of animals affected with highly communicable diseases, particularly Anthrax, should be destroyed without delay at the point where death occurred to prevent spread of the infection over a greater area by dragging the carcasses to new locations. Circumstances may necessitate movement of carcasses on account of the close proximity of buildings or other inflammable material, in which event the carcasses should be placed on a stone boat or similar vehicle atop a bed of straw or manure. On reaching the point where burning is to take place the carcass, together with the material, should be deposited. Saturate the animal with crank case oil, kerosene or any inflammable oil. If straw is available, a full rack load should be thrown over the carcass. Neat add at least two loads of heavy manure, which must be added to from time to time as fire breaks through. Where straw is not available, the manure may be placed directly on the oil saturated carcass and oil soaked wood or cobs placed on the ground close to the animal to start the burning process. Where this method is properly followed, carcasses will be completely consumed.

The depositing of carcasses or parts of carcasses in creek beds, rivers, ravines or leaving them undisposed of is an unlawful act. Sec. 3, Article VIII, Chapter 12, Laws of Nebraska 1927.

Disposal of carcasses by burying should be done only as a last resort where burning cannot be accomplished. If buried, the portion of the carcass nearest the surface should be at least four feet underground and covered with quick lime if possible.

HOLT COUNTY PEOPLE TAKING UNIVERSITY EXTENSION WORK

Twenty-two Holt county residents are currently engaged in university correspondence work with the Extension Division of the University of Nebraska. Five of them are of Atkinson, five of Stuart, three of O'Neill, three of Ewing, two of Chambers, three of Page, and one is of Star.

Extension students in O'Neill are Mrs. F. J. Dishner, who is taking work in sociology; Lucille Hough, enrolled for an education course; and Eva Thresa Harmon, registered for work in English.

The Atkinson group includes Ramona Bauman, who is registered for a course in history; Mrs. Jennie Calen, who is taking courses in English, education and geography; Mrs. Elsie C. Hallock, enrolled for a course in education; Sister M. Mira Distel, who is doing correspondence work in history; and Maggie Nightengale, who is taking two home study history courses.

Stuart correspondence students are Alice Eleanor Criss, enrolled for an English course; James Flannigan, registered for a course in algebra; Ward Flannigan, an extension geometry student; Gibbon Flannigan, another extension geometry student; and Mrs. Frances K. Weigel, who is taking a home study course in history.

The Ewing group includes Wilda Dierks, registered for an English course; Ralph W. Richards, who is taking work in history; and Amber B. Conner, who is taking a Latin course by correspondence.

Page home study students are Velma Marie Bernhaltz, enrolled for two fine arts courses; Viola Haynes, registered for a course in Latin; and Agnes Elise Russell, who is also taking a Latin course.

Frances Rotheam, of Chambers, is taking an extension course in Latin. Mrs. Luella Kellar, also of Chambers, is taking correspondence courses in history and geography.

Mrs. Alma Buxton, of Star, is registered for an extension course in English.

The University Extension Division, whose courses are open to all citizens of Nebraska, was organized by the University of Nebraska in order to bring the university and the home into closer touch; to give every citizen a chance to get the highest possible education at the smallest possible cost; and to take the university to all the people of the state.

Since this type of instruction has been offered, 6,193 students have completed courses carrying 28,815 credit hours. Nearly 200 courses in twenty-five different departments of study are now offered by the Extension Division with subjects ranging all the way from agriculture to zoology.

WANDERER FALLS IN FAINT

A young man who gave his name as Paul Waugh fell in a faint on the sidewalk in the western part of the business section of the city last Thursday afternoon. He was given medical attention and when he came to informed his auditors that he had nothing to eat since Monday and that it was on account of the absence of food that he fainted. Local authorities fed him at a local hotel and gave him an opportunity to regain his strength. He told a rather fanciful story to account for his condition. He said that he would be twenty years old next December—although he looks to be much older—and that he was the heir to an estate of $20,000.00 which he would get possession of when he reached his majority. He said that an attorney in Detroit was looking after the estate and he gave enquirers his name and address. Telegrams to this party at the Detroit address brought back the information that there was no such man there, nor was any such man known to the rental agents of the building. So it begins to look as if this wanderer had dreams of wealth without having any foundation to base the dreams upon.

Methodist Church Notes

Benj. Kuhler, Pastor
Sunday School 10:00 A. M. Better keep your children under the influence of Bible teaching.

Morning worship 11:00 A. M. Sermon Theme, "What Are They Doing in Heaven?"

There will be no evening services next Sunday. The Young folks will go to Inman to contribute to the program given there. We understand there will be services at the Presbyterian church where any who wish to attend services may go.

A good congregation greeted the young preacher last Sunday evening and were quite favorably impressed with the sermon, judging from comments. There were two dozen at League, although it is the vacation season. If all were as responsive and active as some of these much commended young folks, our church would be very much alive indeed.

Last Friday evening a truck load and two car loads took a trip around the world. The last stop was out at the home of the Renner girls. When we got to Opportunity we had to go nearly round the world to make the balance of the journey, on account of washouts.

The two Renner girls were baptized Sunday afternoon in the Elkhorn river.

We still have Prayer and Bible study services Thursday evenings.

Over the County

EASTERN HOLT

The heavy showers of rain were very beneficial to the corn crop.

Thrashing, that was in full swing, was laid over for a couple of days. Small grain is turning out wonderfully. Oats are running thirty-five to thirty-seven bushels to the acre.

H. J. Stevens is under the weather with a lame back.

A message from Wheeler county says no rain yet and all about through with the hay harvest, which is great. We want need to count the bales of hay and straw this year.

Apples, potatoes and roasting ears are plentiful down east here.

We read in the Sioux City paper that the farmers are to take unto themselves a holiday for thirty days, beginning the 15th of August. If Nebraska would follow suit, then things would begin to move.

Mr. Alexander, of Orchard, was in the community on legal business Tuesday.

A baby girl arrived at the home of our assessor last Thursday. All is well. Mr. W. Hart is the proud father of the young lady.

INMAN NEWS

Two severe wind storms visited this community during the past week. Many limbs were blown from the trees and fruit trees were damaged considerably and the silo on the place occupied by the Emmet Bartsch family was blown down. More than four inches of rain fell during the week.

Elwin Smith was in Norfolk Wednesday, spending the day with relatives.

Several car loads of folks went to Page Sunday night to attend the Union service at the M. E. church. A splendid service was held. Musical numbers and readings were given by the young people of the churches and the speaker of the evening was Harvey Tompkins of the Inman church, who delivered an address on World Peace.

Duane Gifford, of Wayne, is here visiting his grandfather, Jason Gifford. He expects to stay until school begins.

Mrs. E. R. Riley was in O'Neill over the week end with her sister, Mrs. Sena Naylor.

Mrs. C. J. Malone, of O'Neill, and Mrs. Ruby Skelton, of Spencer, were here Monday visiting at the home of Mrs. Mary M. Hancock. In the afternoon they drove to Page, accompanied by Mrs. Hancock and Miss Gladys Hancock. They visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Chase.

Mrs. Wm. Schwinck and son, Billie, and Mrs. Schwinck's mother, Mrs. A. C. Judd, of Neligh, were in Inman Friday, visiting friends. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Beryl Conger and son, Dean, who visited in the Schwinck home until Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilcox and children, of Oraibi, Arizona, who have been visiting here with his mother, Mrs. Jennie Wilcox, left for their home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Faye Brittell are moving into the Enders apartment this week.

Miss Carita Gifford arrived here Saturday evening from Oregon. Miss Gifford will teach in the Inman schools this year. She is a former resident of Inman and is visiting among friends for the time being.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Aberhams, of Omaha, arrived here again this week for a few weeks in their summer home.

Mrs. Ella Riley and Thelma were here from O'Neill Monday, visiting among friends.

Mrs. Harold Miller, Mrs. James Gallagher, Mrs. Evadine Erskine, Miss Lois Moor, and Miss Mildred Riley drove to Emmet Friday where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Conard for the day.

Raymond Truax, of Norfolk, spent the week-end here at the L. R. Tompkins home.

Mrs. Jennie Wilcox met with a painful accident Monday when she fell from an apple tree. Mrs. Wilcox climbed into the crotch of the tree which was only four or five feet from the ground, and was gathering apples when she fainted and fell to the ground. She was badly bruised and shaken up. While her injuries are not serious she is under the care of a physician.

MEEK AND VICINITY

Cecil Griffith, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at Stuart hospital nearly three weeks ago, returned home Saturday. He is feeling pretty good and able to be up and around most of the time.

Plenty of rain has fallen in this locality the past week. Some places report nearly seven inches, others report around six inches. Hail visited some parts of this territory Wednesday, and again Thursday, doing a great deal of damage to the corn.

Horace Rouse and daughters, Hazel Mae and Rose Marie, called on Mrs. E. H. Rouse Saturday afternoon.

Charlie Fox and Paul Nelson packed their grips and left on a west-bound motor trip Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Puckett and daughter visited on Sunday at the Lorenz home near Emmet.

Mr. Horace Henifin was taken seriously ill Sunday and at this writing he is not much, if any, better. The children were all called home.

Mr. Henifin passed away Monday night.

Charlie Hoyer had the misfortune to get his lip quite badly injured Sunday, while trying to drive some mules to the pasture. He was riding horseback and ran into a wire clothes line.

R. D. Spindler and family were Sunday dinner guests at the Gus Johnson home.

The Ladies Aid met Thursday afternoon with Miss Maggie Eggar. A good number attended. A dainty lunch was served, to which all present did justice.

Gerald Millbranch and Haney McCain, of Chambers, were visitors at the Harlan McCain and A. L. Borg homes over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gannon and children, the Jensen boys and sister Monena, came from Inman Sunday and were dinner guests at the Fred Lindburg home. Monena stayed for a longer visit with her cousins.

Mrs. Frank Griffith and Cecil called at the Gus Johnson home Monday evening.

A. L. Borg trucked a load of cattle to Sioux City Monday. Mrs. Borg went along for a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Al House and family, of Ponca.

Hazel Johnson called on Mary Emma Spindler Monday afternoon.

A. L. Rouse and daughter, Miss Maude, of O'Neill, were Tuesday guests at the Ralph Young home.

Leonard Young visited with Ralph Rausch Saturday afternoon.
