Not Responsible for Everything

The popular indoor and outdoor sport of those statesmen and politicians who are opposed to our national administration these days is to blame everything that goes wrong on to President Hoover and the Republican Party. That the seeds of the world-wide depression were sown in the World War means nothing to them. Their memory conveniently does not reach back so far into modern history. That there have been disasters all over the world—disasters over which nobody in the United States has any control—does not deter them in their campaign of smear. They apparently have no constructive measures of their own for curing our economic troubles, so have decided that the best thing to do is to make a lot of critical noise, on the theory no doubt that it is much easier to tear down a house than to build one.

In this respect there is fine irony and sound logic in a paragraph in the recently enacted Republican state platform for Nevada. The paragraph, it is said, was penned by a prominent jurist of that state and it is worth repeating, going directly as it does to the heart of the situation depicted above.

The paragraph states:
"The Republican party refuses to accept any responsibility for the causes which plunged the civilized nations of the earth into the World War, for the riotous expenditures for armaments by foreign countries which brought about their unbalanced budgets; for unsafe loans made in Latin America; for bolshevism in Russia; for the eighteen revolutions which have taken place in as many countries since the World War; for the drought; for the panic in Germany and the economic collapse in Central Europe; for England going off the gold standard; for the Sino-Japanese war; for the overproduction of coffee in Brazil, copper in Africa, sugar in Cuba, rubber in India, and wheat in Canada, Australia and the Argentine; and, pointedly, the Republican party accepts no responsibility for the loaning, during the World War, to foreign countries, of the enormous total of thirteen billions of dollars without any proper provision made for its security, repayment and collection."

Here is a fair and careful summing up of the real origin of misfortunes which have been blamed on to the present administration. When they appear catalogued in clear type the criticisms against the administration are shown to be so ridiculous that they ought to be laughed out of the court of public opinion.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By Frank P. Litschert

There can be no question that the protectionists will welcome the challenge if the question of tariffs is to be an issue in the campaign. No part of President Hoover's acceptance address aroused more widespread approval among Republicans than his blunt declaration in favor of the maintenance of the protective tariff principle in American economic life. Following this has come more recently a declaration affirming his faith in protection by Charles Curtis, the Vice Presidential candidate. In speaking of the tariff, Mr. Curtis said:

"We should not only retain our home market, but we should build it up and increase it as much as possible. This is necessary not only to give American labor employment, but also to procure for agriculture a just reward for its labor. If the farmer can not sell, he can not buy. Likewise if American laborers are unemployed they can not buy and when these two are unable to buy there is a decline in the demand for American-made goods and for American products."

"The extent to which the wage earners of the country can purchase depends upon the extent of their employment and the amount of wages earned by them. There must be an ability to buy, whatever may be the price, high or low, at which the thing desired is sold. So the two great problems which we must solve are to secure employment for the unemployed and to make a market for the products of the farm and factory. The application of the principles of the American system of protection is necessary in order to keep out of our country goods which come into competition with our home-made goods and home-grown products."

For more than a year the free traders inside Congress and out, those who think more of our ten per cent foreign trade than our ninety per cent domestic commerce, have been making a great ado about the Smoot-Hawley tariff, which they have blamed for a world-wide depression which came a year before the law was enacted. They have announced from the house-tariff an issue in this campaign. The protectionists through President Hoover and Vice President Curtis, have accepted the challenge. If the free traders want a battle on the issue they are to have it.

But now that their ballyhooing about low tariffs has succeeded in arousing rather than silencing the protectionist sentiment in America, it is doubtful whether the professional free traders will be as anxious for a battle on the subject as they at one time indicated. For even the wildest free trader must realize down in his heart that this is after all a protectionist country. He must understand that the American producer realizes the difference in wages and living conditions in America and the rest of the world, a difference which has raised an American standard of living which cannot be maintained without a protective tariff.

Cop: "Hey, what are you trying to do?"

Drunk: "I'm trying to pull this lamp off the bridge, hic, my wife wants a bridge lamp."—Typo Graphic.

Democrat: Your candidate talks too much and says nothing.

Elephant: Yeah? Well, yours doesn't talk enough and says too much!—Pathfinder.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

The Educational Exhibit Hall at the Chambers Fair Grounds was well filled with School Exhibits and 4-H Club work at the Fair last week.

Some of the work from the districts surrounding Stuart was exhibited at the Tri-County Meet in Stuart on last Thursday. Many favorable comments were heard regarding the fine exhibit at both places.

All the Educational Work will be placed on exhibit in O'Neill on the day of the Fall Festival, which will be held on October 12th.

The Annual Holt County Teacher's Institute will be held in O'Neill on Thursday and Friday, October 13th and 14th. Some exceptionally talented instructors have been engaged and plans are being made to carry out a very helpful and interesting program.

School District number 251, of this county, north of Middlebranch, opened school Monday, September 5th with an enrollment of thirty-one pupils, seventeen in the High School grades and fourteen in the Elementary grades. Prior to this time this was a one room rural school of the ordinary type. There are a number of children in and around the district who have passed the Eighth Grade from one to three years ago but who, due to crop failures and poor conditions generally, have been unable to leave home to attend High School. The patrons of the district discussed the matter and decided to bring High School opportunities home to their children.

A folding partition was placed in the building, windows and entries were changed, thus making two pleasant, well lighted school rooms. Necessary equipment was added to bring the school up to requirements for an Approved Two Room School. A good sized barn has been provided to care for horses driven to school. Approval has been applied for. Latin, English, Algebra, and World History are taught in the High School this year. Students will receive credit for their work here the same as in any accredited High School.

Miss Frances Rotherham, of Ewing, who has been employed to teach in the high school has had three years of college training and several years of experience in approved high school work. She already has the work well organized and running smoothly. Miss Geraldine Wanser, of Page, is teaching her second year in the grades.

Much credit is due the members of the school board, F. L. Carey, Director, Emil Block, Moderator and George Rector, Treasurer, for their interest and untiring efforts to have the building ready for school on time. It will not cost parents nearly so much to keep their children at home and at the same time they will have an equal opportunity with city children.

Services At the Frist Presbyterian Church

Sunday School 10:00—Mr. Geo. C. Robertson, Superintendent.

Morning Worship 11:00—"The Church and the Community."

Young People's C. E. 7:15—Miss Nona Bressler, Leader.

Pheasant Season Opens October 22.

A ten day open season for pheasant hunting in all but seventeen of the counties of Nebraska has been declared by the State Game, Parks and Forestation Commission. The season opens Saturday, October 22nd and closes Monday, October 31. Holt county is one of the open counties, the closed counties being Washington, Saunders, Douglas, Sarpy, Cass, Lancaster, Otoe, Gage, Johnson, Pawnee, Richardson, Sioux, Dawes, Box Butte, Sheridan and Cherry.

Over the County

PLEASANT DALE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lorenz, Sr., entertained the following at Sunday dinner: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lorenz and son, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. William Earnest and daughter and Clarence Earnest and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Serles and family drove down from Redbird Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Serles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson.

Garret Janzing moved several buildings from his place in Emmet to the Herman Janzing farm last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bran and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foright and Mrs. Frank Spatz and children, from Plainview, visited the Winkler families last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lorenz and son, Glen, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schmoer and Gladys and Walter spent Sunday evening at the Guy Beckwith home.

Three more hay crews finished haying in this community last week and nearly every farmer has plenty for his own use. Some have more than they will need.

Miss Theresa Pongratz spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Pongratz.

Cal Tenborg and Oscar Keesley were looking at some land near Opportunity Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hickman visited at the Guy Beckwith home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beckwith and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Beckwith were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Beckwith. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller and son, Harold, and Minnie Seger, Rex Beckwith and Franklin Hickman called and had a fine treat of watermelon.

Joe Winkler purchased a 1930 Ford sedan in Omaha last week. Monday he and his mother went to Brainard to visit her brother and other relatives there.

Several members of the Center Union church were baptized by immersion in the river Sunday noon.

Mrs. Joe Winkler enjoyed a visit from an old school friend, Mrs. William Nanzel, of Monroe, Nebraska, Wednesday. The two had not met since they were children at school.

Center Union lost their game at the Chambers fair last Wednesday. They played with Ballah. The score was 10 to 6 in Ballah's favor.

INMAN NEWS

Quite a number from here attended the South Fork Fair at Chambers last week.

Levi Outhouse left Tuesday of this week for Belle Fouché, S. D., where he will be employed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conard, of Emmet, spent Sunday here at the John Anspach home.

Mrs. C. J. Malone, Miss Ruth Kraemer and Miss Betty Jones, of O'Neill, were in Inman Sunday visiting at the home of Mrs. Mary Hancock.

Elder Levi Gamet, of Independence, Mo., came the latter part of the week to visit friends and transact business. He was accompanied by his grandson, Roy Brombough, of Blair, Nebr.

Miss Gladys Hancock spent Sunday at the S. M. Ohmart home near Emmet. She also attended church services at the Center Union church, of which Mr. Ohmart is pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Keyes and children drove to Meadow Grove Saturday, returning Sunday evening. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Keyes' father, John Edwards, who will visit here for a while.

The members and friends of the Methodist church are rejoicing in the fact that their pastor, Mertie E. Clute

1500 of Nebraska's Finest 1500 HEREFORD Feeding Cattle

Sell At Auction

at Atkinson, Nebr., Tuesday, Sept. 27, 800 Head at Ord, Nebr., Wednesday, Sept. 28, 700 Head

Mr. Feeder—Attention

1000 head of these cattle are yearling steers, consigned by the Nebraska Securities Corporation. They are from their world's famous Meadow and Adobe Ranches, in the San Luis Valley of Colorado and have been wintered and summered in the sandhills of Nebraska. No place on earth will you find better cattle than these—they are the kind that will top any market when fed out. Nothing but purebred Hereford bulls have been used in the production of these cattle for the past 50 years. In addition to the above we sell 110 spayed, yearling Hereford heifers, 100 head of two-year-old steers, 100 head of two-year-old heifers, 100 head of fat dry cows, 200 head of big Hereford steer calves.

All of them sell at auction, by the pound, weighed over tested scales, in car load lots. Brand inspection guaranteed. Atkinson is located on the main line of the Northwestern; Ord on the Union Pacific and Burlington, north of Grand Island. Consult your road maps—good highways in all directions.

WJAG, Norfolk, will broadcast full particulars on these two auctions Friday, Saturday and Monday during the noon hour program. Listen in.
