HOLT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NOTES

Office—County Court House
Office Days—Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons

Enough figures and facts are now available so northeastern Nebraska farmers who grow wheat can do some fairly accurate figuring on how much they will get in return for adjusting their wheat acreage this fall and next fall. W. H. Brokaw, director of the agricultural extension service and administrator of the Triple A wheat plan says.

The story can probably best be told by going thru an example. A farmer has an average of 20 acres of wheat yielding an average of 20 bushels in the three years, 1930-32. His "base production" is 400 bushels.

The county allotment is based upon the five year average for the county during the years, 1928-32. North eastern Nebraska counties varied considerably in their three and five year averages. In Antelope, Boyd, Dixon, Holt, Knox and Pierce counties, the three year average is higher than the five year average. In Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Madison, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne counties, the three year average is lower than the five year average.

Since each farmer is entitled to his proportionate share of the county allotment, this farmer's base production of 400 bushels is adjusted up or down according to the county in which he lives. If he lived in Holt county, he would adjust his 400 bushels downward, if he lived in Dakota county, the adjustment would be upward.

Supposing the adjustment is upward ten per cent. Then this farmer's "adjusted based production" would be 440 bushels. His benefit payment is based upon 54 per cent of the 440 bushels, or 238 bushels.

The benefit payment is 30 cents per bushel, less the cost of federal and county administration expense, which in some of the northeastern Nebraska counties might amount to a total of five cents. Two hundred thirty-eight times 25 cents equals $59.50 cash benefit payment this fall and next spring.

If the rates and percentages remain the same thru 1934, the farmer would get another benefit payment in the fall and spring of 1934-35 and another payment in the fall and spring of 1935-36. In other words, he has a chance to get three payments for two crop years, and could figure the additional possibility of 50 per cent more on his $59.50 making $89.25. The payment of $59.50 is fairly certain, the second and third payments will be made to bring the farm price of wheat up to parity price. If the open market price is parity, the payments will not be made, but the farmer will be ahead because he will get the higher price on 100 per cent instead of 54 per cent of his crop.

In addition to the cash money in advance, this farmer saves the expense of raising the wheat on the land he takes out of wheat, he has limited use of the land, he has a guarantee of the cash money regardless of crop failure, and he also has the guarantee of parity price on 54 per cent of his crop and the possibility of a higher price if the wheat supplies are reduced.

For these considerations, he will be asked to cut his acreage not over 20 per cent. He may reduce it more if he chooses just so long as he sows enough acres, which at his average yields, 20 bushels, will produce 238 bushels. That would be 12 acres.

If he cuts his acreage 20 per cent, or 4 acres, he is fairly certain of getting about $15 per acre cash rent per year and has a possibility of getting $22 if the three similar payments are made for the two crop years.

ALONG FOURTH AND DOUGLAS

By the Rounders

Red-shirt Brennan, gentleman of parts and patron of the arts, failed to show up at the Bakery at closing time last Saturday night. The occurrence was so unusual that we just had to mention it.

Second story Hank, the popular druggist in this mans town, was seen cavorting about the roof of the poor house the other night. Explain yourself, Battler!

The gossips about town were right, for once. Charlie Meyers finally took the leap into the sea of matrimony. Good luck, Charlie, and don't forget to take along a few life boats.

During the treasure hunt the other night, Roy Carroll was directed to one of the residences on Benton street in response to his query as to the location of the place where "Monsters are daily fed, and gently tucked into their bed."

Mike Harty wishes to state here that he is not building any more lawn furniture for any man, woman or child in this town or in any other town. "I even see them in my sleep" is his statement. As if he ever slept, anyway!

Our idea of the aristocrat in perfect union with the proletariat is the state-ly John Mann driving Art Kings' miniature edition of the automotive industry.

And we may as well fall in line with the rest of the papers in the county and announce that Mary Louis Hammond departed for Omaha this morning. We don't think that it's true, but it's been in all the papers for the past month anyway.

And now, after all these weeks, we have to bid a fond adieu to our millions of readers. The halls of higher learning are calling, and we have to go. We hope you liked it.

It's play for this little girl to "call the doctor" for her "sick" doll with her toy telephone—but it wasn't play for her mother when it was the girl that swallowed some poison — Mother doesn't dare to think what might have happened if she had not had the telephone to get the doctor at once. "I never realized before what a telephone could be worth," she said in telling us of this experience.

Your telephone is more than a convenience—a means of keeping in touch with friends and relatives—of calling stores and places of business—it's the guardian of your home.

One call may be worth more than telephone service costs in a lifetime.
