on Thursday, December 7th. Mrs. Orlie Herrick and Mrs. Fred Robertson will be assisting hostesses.

Mrs. R. R. Dickson entertained eight guests at breakfast last Thursday morning, complimenting Mrs. W. J. Froelich of Chicago. The table was beautiful in its autumn colors.

P. J. McManus went down to Omaha last Sunday afternoon, returning Monday night. While in Omaha he called upon Monsignor Cassidy, who is confined in St. Catherine's hospital.

William Osborne, who has made his home here with his sister, Mrs. Ralph Mellor, for the past few months, left last Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., where he expects to make his future home.

CAR MANUFACTURERS RECOMMEND NEW GRADES OF OIL

During the past year motor car manufacturers thru an investigation sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers have made a study of winter oil. They found that most winter oils were too heavy and that because of this, most people experienced unnecessary difficulty in starting. In cars with refinements such as automatic starters and choke controls it was predicted that starting difficulty would be greater than ever before, if winter oils of the old type were used.

They therefore established a classification for two new grades of motor oil to be known as 10-W and 20-W, to be recommended for all temperatures from freezing to zero and 10-W for temperatures below that.

Two new grades of Iso-Vis "D" are the oils developed by the Standard Oil Company under this new classification—except they have gone even further. The new 20-W Iso-Vis "D" pours at 5 degrees below zero and 10-W at 20 degrees below zero. Both grades start to lubricate even on the coldest morning the minute the starter on any car is pressed. This new instantaneous lubricating feature is offered the public at no increase in motor oil costs.

NOVEMBER MID-MONTH REPORT

Winter wheat lacks surface moisture following two months of dry weather, say Nebraska Bankers in their Mid-Month report to E. V. Jones, Assistant Agricultural Statistician. Corn husking, which is well advanced, reveals considerable corn of poor quality. Farm prices of grains advanced while those of cattle and hogs declined.

The condition of winter wheat as reported by bankers is considerably lower now than a month ago. Although there is a fair sub-soil moisture reserve in most sections of the State, the top soil is extremely dry. A large number of days of high winds during the last month have been detrimental to wheat because of lack of top soil moisture. The high wind which prevailed on November 19 is reported by bankers to have blown out a small portion of the wheat on light soils. In general, no material injury to wheat is reported in the eastern third of the state. Conditions are poorest in central, southwestern and south central Nebraska. The crop, however, has suffered no great amount of injury and with the fair reserve sub-soil moisture would recover with a good supply of surface moisture.

Much more than the usual amount of corn has been husked to date. The dry weather which has prevailed during the last two months has given farmers ample opportunity for husking. Due to drought during the past season over a considerable portion of the state the quality of corn is reported by bankers to be below average. Yields are turning out about as expected earlier, averaging for the state 22.5 bushels per acre. Husking has become more difficult since November 19 according to bankers. The extremely high wind which prevailed on that date blew over a considerable amount of crops in many sections. Many ears dropped from the stalks and in some sections of light or sandy soils were lost thru covering by the drifting of the soil. Some loss of corn stalk feed also occurred when the wind stripped the stalks in many sections of the state. The price paid per bu. for husking corn is averaging slightly below three cents.

The average price paid by farmers for feeder cattle is much lower than a year ago, averaging from $3.75 to $4.00. Feeder lambs are coming into feedlots at $5.00 to $6.00 per cwt. The supply of hogs on hand, according to bankers, is below that of a year ago.

Considerable fluctuation in the prices received by farmers has occurred during the past month. Grain prices advanced sharply from the recent low point while prices of hogs, beef cattle, and chickens declined. Preliminary prices of farm products now and a month ago are as follows: winter wheat, 68 cents and 61 cents; corn, 31 cents and 25 cents; oats, 26 cents and 23 cents; barley, 27 cents and 24 cents; potatoes, 58 cents and 60 cents; alfalfa hay, $6.00 and $6.40; wild hay, $4.35 and $5.00; hogs, $3.45 and $3.95; beef cattle, $4.15 and $4.30; lambs, $5.85 and $5.50; chickens, 6 cents and 6 cents; butterfat, 19 cents and 18 cents, and eggs, 18 cents and 15 cents.

Souvenir Collectors Are Plentiful In O'Neill

The number of old stamp, coin and other collectors, and collector of other old or odd material, in O'Neill, is much greater than is supposed. Mrs. John L. Quig has a small yet interesting assortment of foreign and domestic coins. Ambrose Rhode has several American coins of rare dates. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Lowery have about 800 Indian head pennies, a few other rarer coins and also have several dozen varieties of cactus. Russel and Elmer, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowen, have perhaps the most interesting collections of coins and stamps in town. Several of their pieces are worth around $15. There are many more collections here of everything from arrowheads to Americana.

Joel Parker, last Thursday, exhibited two arrowheads, which could tell a very interesting story if they could talk. The points were found on the banks of the Niobrara river last summer while Joe sought fish.

One head is black and appears to be of Sioux manufacture. The other is brown and is typically Pawnee. Both are broken somewhat and they may have been used in battle. It is well known the Sioux and Pawnee Indians were bitter enemies, for years contesting the rich hunting ground that is now Boyd and Holt counties.

Mr. Parker has about 150 arrowheads, some five and 10 pound hammers, and other things of stone.

Recently Joe obtained a photograph of men and boys hoeing chicory near O'Neill, in the year 1893, and, tho there are about 25 persons in the picture, not one has been definitely identified.

Ryland Parker, Joe's brother, has a large buffalo head that is of a monster type which flourished before the type originally found here by the first settlers.
